THE FIRST CHRISTMAS TREE

The day before Christmas in the year of our Lord 724 a little company of pilgrims, less than a score of men, were traveling slowly northward through the wide forests that rolled over the hills of Central Germany. At the head of the band marched Wilfred of England, whose name in the Roman tongue was Boniface, and whom men called the Apostle of Germany. A great preacher, a wonderful scholar; but more than all a daring traveler, a Priest of Romance.

He had left his home and his fair estate in Wessex; he would not stay in the rich monastery in Nutescelle, even though they had chosen him as the abbot; he had refused a bishopric at the court of King Karl. Nothing would content him but to go out into the wildwoods and preach to the heathen.

Through the forests of Hesse and Thuringia, and along the borders of Saxony, he had wandered for years, with a handful of companions, sleeping under trees, crossing mountains and marshes and tramping through dense forests. Suddenly one night this strange caravan came upon a great fire kindled in the forest. A great throng of people were gathered around it in a half circle, their backs to the open glade, their faces toward the forest trees. The travelers paused for a moment at the edge of the clearing and took council. "It is the assembly of the tribe," said one of the foresters, "the great night of the council. All who swear by the old gods have been summoned. They will sacrifice a steed to the god of war and drink blood and eat horse flesh to make them strong. It will be at the peril of our lives if we approach them. At least we must hide the cross, if we would escape death."

"Hide me no cross," cried Wilfred, lifting his staff, "for I come to show it, and make these blind folk see its power. At his command the sledge was left in the border of the wood, with two of the men to guard it and the rest of the company moved forward to meet the group at the fire. Even so as he approached, Wilfred's bold deed fell into the midst of the thoughts and passions of the council. Anger and wonder surged through the crowd. They knew not which way to move, to resent the intrusion of the stranger as an insult to their gods, or to welcome him. * * * Thus Wilfred spoke. * * * Out of the stillness of the night a mighty rushing noise sounded overhead. Was it the ancient gods on their white battle steeds with their black hounds of wrath and their arrows of lightning, sweeping through the air? Wilfred turned to the people, "And here," said he, as his eyes fell on a young fir tree, standing straight and green, with its top pointing toward the stars, "here is a tree with no stains of blood upon it, that shall be the sign of your new worship. See how it points to the sky. Call it the tree of the Christ Child. Take it up and carry it to the chieftain's hall. You shall go no more into the shadows of the forest to keep your feasts with secret rites of shame. You shall keep them at home with laughter and songs and rites of love."—Van Dyke "The Christmas Tree."

GENERAL NEWS

GARDNER GIVEN HIGH HONOR BY STATE TEACHERS

Professor Carl A. Gardner, principal of the North Fort Worth High School, was elected vice-president of the Texas State Teacher's Association at the annual convention in Dallas recently. The honor came as a great surprise to him, as he did not know anything about it until he was being balloted upon.

Professor Gardner also was elected president of the Texas High School Principal's Association at the same time. He was largely instrumental, also, in getting out the first year book of the Principal's Association, which was distributed at the meeting.

T. L. Vance, principal, of the Arlington Heights School, was elected secretary-treasurer, succeeding Professor Gardner to that position. Vance was formerly vice-principal of North Side High School.

OUR RECEPTION

Miss Wortman was in charge of the reception committee and she surely did show us a wonderful time. It was made known to us that we were to make ourselves absolutely at home and to adopt, as our slogan, "Get Acquainted." We all followed this out to the last degree. The pupils of Baylor College were ready to do anything for us, and I feel safe in saying that all of the delegates who attended the convention would second me in that, if there is any college or institution that could make us have such a wonderful time and also make us want to come back again, Baylor College, the home of the Texas High School Press Association, at Belton, Texas, is that place.

YOUR PAPER

Nothing so mistakably bespeaks a school's prosperity or progressiveness as its school paper. A good paper cannot live in a poor section. The fact that Fort Worth is not only in God's country, but one of the most lively spots in Texas is the reason for the Student coming into existence. It has always been—will always be the aim of the Student staff to fight for anything that tends toward the upbuilding of the High Schools of Fort Worth. That our efforts have borne fruit and are appreciated is well shown by the cordial support given our advertising and circulation department.

We in a sincere manner wish to thank our readers for their co-operation. We realize the fact that this magazine is or should be, a servant of the students—for as soon as it fails to express the feelings of the students for which it is published it ceases to be beneficial to the students and becomes a propaganda organ. We want the Student to be your paper; its columns are open to all for discussion as to the best ways and means to adopt for the continuation of the prosperity of the Student. There is still room for improvement on our paper and it will be improved just as soon as we can financially afford to do so.

Are you doing your part towards the upbuilding of the Student by supporting it? We feel that it is worth the few cents a week that we charge for it. If you are one of those who haven't been buying a Student do so today.

We wish you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

"AIN'T IT GRAND?"

Ain't it a grand and glorious thing when you've got a teacher who laugh and sings, and slaps your back and squeezes your mit when somethin' you've done has made a hit? Doesn't it fill you full of pep, to have a teacher who watches your steps who's slow to complain and quick to grade and who never scolds about the grade you've made? Ain't it fine to listen to a guy who knows who's who, what's what, and why? The kind of a man that's more than fair, even to those who need the "air"; who, "takes his bow", when chiefs applaud, but gives the to "George" and "Maude." Who his, "spanking" when things wrong, but never tries to pat along. What is there that a wouldn't do, for a teacher who ways hears you through; who himself in your shoes, by Jinks. say right out just what he th. Who wouldn't study his head for a teacher who worries about your cough, when you know he's troubles aplenty, himself, without any worrying over your health? Who's pleased when your happy and grieves when your sad; who watches your interests just like a dad. Who can hand you a jolt if you've got one due, or fight just as quick for what's coming to you. Ain't it a grand and glorious thing, and would not you like to yell and sing, and ship his back and show your pep, when a teacher like that moves up a step?—Exchange.

TO N. C.

I often write of pretty girls,
When I have naught to do,
And N. C. I'm not busy now
Suppose I write of you.

This poem is by your request
Don't blame it all on me,
If I by any slight remark
Should spoil your vanity.

This poem is not apple-sauce.
I mean each word I say—
You were the prettiest girl I saw
Along our merry way.

A SURE NUFF FISH
FRY

The delegates to Belton were sure given one grand and glorious time. If you don't believe it you can just ask Thspa. Thspa will sure answer in the affirmative. Oh yes! you don't know who Thspa is do you? He is.....well you can ask one of the delegates.

Speaking of good times there was sure one entertainment that every one was sure to have enjoyed. That was an old fashioned fish fry. There was about one billion pounds of fish. The menu was as follows: Fish, fish, fish, potatoes, salad, cakes, ice cream, coffee, and what you call it.

The music was furnished by the Belton High School band. The band seemed to be one of those never tiring machines because it kept up a continuous program of songs.

A fencing duel was staged by four Baylor College girls. They made excuses for the duel because the girls did not have much practice. The excuses were not necessary because the girls handled those swords as though they were old veterans at the game. This was thoroughly enjoyed because it is only on rare occasions that such maneuvers are witnessed.

Several delegates made very interesting speeches. Some of the persons that made speeches are J. Lindsey and O. S. Goldsmith.

When the party closed every one went to the Alma Reeves Chapel to see THE LAST EDITION

NEW IDEAS ADVOCATED AT THE T. H. S. P. A.

THE ALUMNI

Ex-delegates to the T. H. S. P. A. please pay attention! Just because you will graduate before the next convention does not mean that you will not attend, because there has been a T. H. S. P. A. Alumni organized. This alumni will meet at the same time as the regular convention and members of this organization will get the same benefits, as members of the regular association. It has not been decided yet what the membership fee will be or what you will be required to do; but don't worry because as soon as it is decided it will be published in the "Student."

The Quarterly Magazine

One of the many ideas advocated at the T. H. S. P. A. convention was to establish a quarterly magazine to be published by the T. H. S. P. A. This magazine is to consist of fifty pages of news editorials, announcements, etc. pertaining to the association. It is thought that this will be a great help to the members of this association and also in increasing its membership.

KADET KNEWS

On Friday evening December 4, the complete Cadet Corps of the Fort Worth High Schools assembled at the Chamber of Commerce to present Major Evelyn Summers with her Colonelship. Between the high school girls an essay contest was held. The winner was to be sponsor for all the cadets of the school from which she was from but sponsor of all the cadets of the Fort Worth High Schools. Major Summers, who was already sponsor of the Arlington Heights Cadets was the winner. At this meeting the following program was given.

America—All present.

Speech—Mr. Moore.

Speech—On "Aims of Cadets" by Captain Fleet.

Presentation of Colonelship to Major Summers by Major Dunn.

Presentation of flowers to the new regimental sponsor.

Short Speech—Colonel Summers.

Speech—Major Dunn, a pupil of Senior High and only cadet in the city who is a major.

Lieutenant Brady, instructor of Military Training at Junior High and Lieutenant Maxwell, instructor of North Side introduced by Sergeant Head.

Lieutenant Maxwell closed the meeting by having Mr Moore to lead us in prayer and having all who were present to sing the "Star-Spangled Banner." Also at this meeting Mr. Matt June made a short talk and presented to the following cadets medals.

Major Dunn of Senior High a merit medal; Lieutenant Garland of Poly High, a merit medal; Second Lieutenant Day of Senior High, a merit medal; Captain Amecher of Senior High, an efficiency medal; Captain C. B. Spain of Senior High, an efficiency medal; Captain Jack Garzyca of North Side High, an efficiency medal; Lieutenant Tyson of Arlington Heights High, an efficiency medal; Lieutenant Powers of Poly High, an efficiency medal; Second Lieutenant Singleton of Poly High, an efficiency medal, and, Second Lieutenant of Junior High, an efficiency medal. All the medals were presented to the boys, Sergeant Head read the names.

On Thursday, three North Side cadets had the pleasure of having Captain G. T. Fleet out to visit them. Captain Fleet made a short but interesting talk that was enjoyed by all the cadets. We were glad to have Captain Fleet with us and we sincerely hope that he will be back to see us again soon.

(Lieutenant Maxwell tells me you are not supposed to laugh when you're at attention.)

Wonder who Colonel Evelyn Summers was pointing out to Major Dunn the other night at the Chamber of Commerce. Do you suppose it could have been Captain Jack Garzyca?

AIMS OF GIRL SCOUTS CLUB

(Winner of first place in "Aims of Club" Contest).

1. The object of the organization is to give girls, through natural wholesome, recreation those habits of mind and body which will make them useful responsible women, ready and willing to take a definite part in home and civic affairs.
2. To promote higher and better citizenship.
3. To learn to work through play.
4. To get more girls interested in club work, thus giving their leisure time.
5. To live up to the Girl Scout Laws, the Slogan and Promise.

PROGRAM COMMITTEE FOR P. T.

A committee has been appointed by Mr. Slawson and the leaders to arrange a schedule for the P. T. work. A program has been worked out for the next six weeks and Mr. Slawson thinks that the committee is a good thing to have. The boys on the committee are as follows: A. T. Massey, Earl Hendricks, John S. Hoght, Edwin DePew and Earl Willis.

"P. T. Leaders to have party."

The physical training leaders are going to have a party Friday night at J. B. Miller's home at 1221 Denver avenue. The boys have a party every year and they always have a good time. E. J. Deason the captain and his two assistants, J. B. and Ru Bostick are to have charge of the party.

LATIN LINES

Have you seen our new pins? They are beauties. Everyone will be wanting one.

The Latin club has changed its regular meeting from the first and third Tuesdays to the following Thursday.

The Latin club had a very interesting meeting Thursday, December 3, 1925. Each member answered roll call with a Latin quotation.

The program for the afternoon was a Roman style show. As Winfred Stokes (Marquis Aureius) told of the dress of the ancient Romans they were illustrated in dress. Wallace Stegall wore the tunic, a garment worn indoors, and a toga, which resembles a cape. Phoebe Lyle was dressed as a Roman girl with a white dress and an orange cape. Maggie Tadlock was dressed as a bride in a white dress and a flame colored veil fastened at the head by flowers. Jere Green showed the different kinds of shoes and sandals worn by the Romans.

At Christmas time the Latin club is going to have a party and make candy. If you Latin club members want in on this be sure and come next meeting.

GIRL SCOUTS REPORT

Wednesday night the woods of Lake Worth rang with the merry shouts and laughter of the girl scouts. Despite the fact that for a while, rain threatened to spoil their fun, at ten-thirty, the girls were still "going strong."

The girls learned to make the famous "sikababs," "doughboys," and "angels on horseback," of which they made their evening meal. After an evening of singing, story-telling, supper, stunts, and games, the girls finished the activities of the day with the "Charleston," and a dance on the Alvez.

At eleven-thirty, just as the moon appeared for the first time in the evening, from behind the dark hovering clouds, the girls gathered around a blazing campfire, and in the stillness of the night, sang "Taps."

Thursday morning as the seven o'clock alarm was given, every girl was occupied in the preparation for breakfast. When breakfast was over, the scouts hiked to the beach where they took pictures, and had their ceremonial exercises. At eleven o'clock each girl packed her "napsack" and journeyed home, arriving their just as father was carving the "Mr. Turkey," who the day before had been the king of the poultry yard.

HI Y CLUB

We were glad to have with us on Monday, December 7, Mr. Jess Hopkins who is a Y. M. C. A. worker down in South America. He told us many interesting things about the boys down there. The most interesting of which was how South American boys hunger for the games that the more modern boy plays. He said if any boy here wished to correspond with any foreign boys to send the letter, addressed to the country you wish your letter to go, and send it to Mr. Osborne at the Y., and that he would see that it would reach the country that the letter is addressed to. Any boy may do this, whether or not he is a Hi Y member.

THE STUDENT

YEAH! GIRL SCOUTS!

Of course everybody has heard of the Girl Scout organization, but have you taken time to notice what they are doing or how they stand among the other clubs of the school? Mr. Gardner announced in chapel that the Girl Scouts rank first and we are very proud of this report and are striving for the highest and best results in our organization which is the first in Fort Worth. The Girl Scouts, like the Boy Scouts, is not only a national organization but has been organized in foreign countries also.

We have a jolly good time at our meetings and have made several trips already. We expect to make more soon. The "eats" on these trips especially please all who go on them. We know that everybody likes "eats" and "go's" and since our club is still taking new members, we wish to tell all the Juniors and Seniors who are wanting to join a growing, helpful organization, where "eats and "good times" are enjoyed, to see Miss Lindsey, our Captain.

My dear Mr. Gardner:-

Will you convey to the members of your Athletic Pep Squad, and also to the students at large, of your estimable institution, this expression of admiration and appreciation of the magnificent demonstration of spirit and enthusiasm displayed at the recent North Side Central football game, played at Worth Field. It was the most wonderful expression of school spirit and team support that I have ever been privileged to witness or permitted to enjoy: all the more so, because the demonstration continued while the team was losing, as well as that interval when Dame Fortune smiled upon them.

Such spirit deserves the admiration and favorable commendation of everyone, and has mine.

Very sincerely,

N. E. BUSTER.

INDOOR BASEBALL

The seniors were declared champions of North Side High Wednesday afternoon when they defeated the Sophmores by a score of 9-2. The score was tied until the last inning when the seniors knocked in seven runs thus winning championship.

Mr. Slawson was giving the boys a talk about skeletons the other evening and said that he wished that he had a specimen that he could show the boys. John Cox said that he would be willing to let him use his skeleton when he died. Mr. Slawson said that if he showed them John's skeleton that the boys would get the wrong opinion of the human race.

THE VERSE BOX

By C. E. M.
BEFORE CHRISTMAS

His face was like a speckled hen
Which matched his eyes of brown;
A smile was from his ears to chin—
His eyes were big and round.

"Oh, ma," he called from the attic stairs,
"See here what I have found,
I don't see Santa anywhere—
I know, though, he's around.

"For there's a rocky horse upstairs,
With lines an' bridle too;
And there's a little doll with hair
And hats and baby shoes.

"The doll may be for sister
I know the horse is mine,
I'll be a little mister
On a horse, so big and fine.

"Ma, Santa Claus comes early now
But last year he came late—
It wasn't until Christmas morn
And then at half past eight.

"I'm going back upstairs again
And peep behind the door
'Cause Santa may be hiding there
Or maybe I'll find more."

So then he scampered up the stairs
And he was out of sight,
But ma just stood a-standin' there,
Her mind was not just right.

BEHIND AND AHEAD

Behind me is the past—
Forgot and as hard to follow
As a country road covered with snow.

Ahead of me—the future,
My fondest hopes fulfilled—
    waiting for me by the wayside—
All I must need do is follow the road.

BARNYARD GOLF

Barnyard Golf, better known as Horse Shoe Pitching is becoming more and more popular in North Side High. The boys are getting in practice now and they are having some close competition. Horse Shoes is a good, clean, and wholesome game. We want more boys out to play Horse Shoes and later on in the season we are thinking about having a Horse Shoe Tournament in which everybody will be eligible to play. Come on out boys and try your skill.

A telephone operator was fishing on a lake one evening. While she was getting a bite a man passed by in a boat and hollered "Hello", to which she replied, "I can't, the line is busy."

IF I HAD

WOULDN'T IT BE FUNNY IF
Miss Stryggley could dance t

Mr. Bode would give someo

Miss Pryor would chew gum, or—

Miss Eppler would let a fello

The Lion's club adopt the Cade
Corp on their good appearance, or—

Lieutenant Maxwell should giv some recruit a bawling out, or—

Mr. Gardner should eat at the

But, Gosh! We had better stop there, don't you think?—W. R.

How dear to my heart,
Are the scenes of my child-hood.

THOUGHTS OF AN IDLE BRAIN

By CLYDE DRISCOLL

Some people can copy an article for The Student better than they can write one for it.

All of us get some ideas from others, therefore what we write is not altogether original.

We often get mad about the way a thing turns out, but after we think of it for a while we are glad it came out that way.

Humor is good for you but too much will make a person laugh.

You can put more dependence in yourself than you can put in George.

Some of us will not spend our money unless we can brag about it.

Often when we hear a slang expression we find it easier to use than correct expression.

Although our worst enemy may destroy all of our valuables, keep sakes, it cannot destroy the smile.

Some of us find that after we get what we want, we did not want it at all.

Some people don't think they can do a thing until they are paid to try.

The person who is too hasty physically usually is not hasty enough mentally.

A freshman thinks he knows a lot until he gets his report cards.

Some of us use our tongues more than our brains.

A picture is like a mirror, except that it reflects the same picture always.

TO HIGH SENIORS '26

You have almost finished your work
at North Side High;

And the time has come for you
to say good-bye

To all your classmates and teachers
here,

And begin planning your work for another year.

Let's part with smiles and promises to each other

That we'll live pure lives for each
dear mother;

For the mother's who live, pine for the best—

The others did the same, who are now at rest.

Lets walk in the pathway that is pleasing to God

While others may think we are different and odd.

But let's do our best, where we are,
To make our lives like a shining star.

KADET KNEWS

On Wednesday, November 25, the Cadets of the North Side High School had some visitors from Arlington Heights Hi. The guests were Colonel Evelyn Summers, Cadet sponsor at Arlington Heights Hi. and Captain Addington. The Cadets at North Side High enjoyed the company of the guests mentioned above and cordially invite them back to North Side High.

Say folks, have you seen the two little tassels that Captain Jack Garzyca and Lieutenant S. M. Lawson are wearing on their sabres? If you haven't, you had better look at them. They are maroon and white in color and are very attractive. These officers are very proud of them, and we hope that it will not be long until more boys are to be the proud owners of a pair also.

Every day in every way the Cadets of North Side High are better and better, as the saying goes. You just ought to see those boys drill. They certainly are making progress and each is working hard to attain a higher honor. If they keep up the good work and do well in their academic work, they will surely each reach their goal.

We are prepared to do any kind of shoe shining at Peters Bros., 913 Houston St.

AROUND ABOUT

By KNOW-BODY

It will always be wondered why two demerits went in to the home rooms of every pupil in 313 the third period. These aforesaid warnings were presented to Gardner Chadwick, Calvin Saunders, Boyd Manning and all the other excellent-behaved students of this study hall.

Harold Parker wants to know when the War of 1812 was. Someone please tell him.

Who is the person who is not himself? Well, it's hard to say there are so many of them, but we'll just stop by naming Calvin Sanders.

Frank Lindsey says he is afraid of nothing or nobody, not even himself.

Why do so many people get names mixed? It is Tarbaby Newell and T. A. Ross and not Tarbaby Ross and T. A. Newell.

Most children are good when some of their immediate family is connected with the school. As everyone knows there are exceptions to the general rule. William Dickenson is a good example, for he is just as bad as ever.

LATIN CLUB ORGANIZED

About twenty Latin students met in Miss Shepperd's room to organize a Latin club. The following officers were elected:

President, Elsie Scott Latimer.
Vice president, Edwina Miller.
Secretary-Treasurer, Jessie Gaston.
Song leader, Jimmy Woodward.
Reporter, Frederick Isely.
Chairman program committee, Geraldine Ray.
Parliamentarian, Boyd Manning.
Miss Shepperd and Miss Lewis are the sponsors for the club which meets every first and third Tuesdays.

Tuesday, December 15, the Latin Club met in regular session. After a short business meeting, an interesting program was given. James Leath and Ursula Hull told about the family life of the Romans. Jessie Gaston read a very humorous poem, part in Latin and part in English. A short contest then followed, after which the members were adjourned to meet soon after the holidays.

SUITABLE CHRISTMAS GIFTS FOR STUDENTS

To get a good start we shall use a high point. In other words, Aline English is the first example. We suggest that Aline receive a few, nice short dresses. She says she simply hates the horrid, old-fashioned things she has to wear. Why, the old things she has even conceal part of her knees!

Leon Record claims that her peroxide has lost most of its power, therefore, we have decided that she needs some more of that magic juice. (Excellent seasoning, what!) We know such a gift would prove highly acceptable.

Then follows Alta Smith, even as the Day the Night. A large box of that excellent powder she uses would be greatly appreciated, no doubt. Too, a large box would last her as long as a couple of weeks.

Robert Keith and "Tack" Bethany have been overheard to say that they had a pair of those large trousers they have seen advertised. Bob and Tack said they thought they were called Oxford bags.

While we haven't exactly heard "Ferdie" alias "Dago" alias "Banana Peddler" alias Wesley La Sage express such a wish, it is understood that he is very anxious for a pair of "hip" reducers.

Somebody said that they heard

Cleo Williams make a wish for a set of lessons on "How to Develop a Powerful Voice in Six Weeks." This would prove a most practical gift if Cleo does any more yell-leading.

Madison Garland declares he would like a nice pair of wool leggins as he thinks they are much more military in appearance than boots.

Next, Ben Collard wants a Hebrew's hoop. We mean Jew's harp. Ben says that is one instrument he would like to master.

Last on the list, by a coincidence only, is Velma Branham. We think Velma should be presented with a set of mail order lessons entitled, "The Mastery of the Art of Ballet Dancing," because we truly believe such a gift would make this Christmas literally, a merry one for her.

POLY CADETS WIN BANNER

Company "E," of the Poly Cadets drilled on Dillow School grounds Monday afternoon after school, with all the other high schools in the city in a competition drill, and needless to say this platoon was awarded the honor banner which Central has held up to the present time. It will be in the hall of Poly High every morning so that everyone may see it. Lieutenant Garland was in command of the company Monday.

The men in Company "E" worked very hard for this banner. They drilled before and after school and sometimes at night.

There will be another competition drill held sometime in January. If Poly wins the banner she will get to keep it.

Co. "E" Parades Thursday

Company "E" paraded Thursday morning. They marched from Vickery Bend in Nashville Street to Vaughn, through the T. W. C. campus. The U. S. flag and the honor banner were carried.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB MEETS

The Home Economics Club held a very important meeting Dec. 10. Plans for a party to be given December 17 were discussed. Social and program committees were also appointed.

PERSONAL PROWLINGS

From the mad looks and actions of some of our teachers, one never would determine that Christmas is, so to say, upon us.

But then the fact often belies what the heart feels.

I'll bet my last clean shirt that there's not one "bachelor-maid" school marm in Poly who doesn't believe in Santa Claus and beauty clay.

The fight is on! Come on Seniors! The beauty contest is ours by rights. But let's earn it too. Of course, we'll have to dock thirty-five centavos from someone's Christmas present; but then, what's in a gift, anyway?

As yet the bank account of the mid-term graduating class remains incog. But Christmas is coming and there's plenty of ways to disperse small change during the holidays! Methinks that Helen Riggle and Virginia Medford should be trailed by private deteckeratives!

Last week when the Prowler was snooping about the halls in search of stray bits of gossip and love notes of the "fishes," he chanced upon an addressed envelope. The letter was inscribed: "Mr. Santa Claus, Care North Pole," and contained the following note:

Dere Mr. Santa Claus:

We are two little boys, ages respectively 9 and 10, and are Seniors in Poly High. Albert wants a little red waggin and a billy goat and Vernon wants a Spanish dickioneyr and a triycle. Be sure to come in the front door because the chimney ain't big enough.

P. S.: Bring us some candy and nuts, to.

Albert Flynn and Vernon Pompell.

Things one never hears: "Oh, how I hate to be out of school for the holidays!"

"Gee! But I love my teachers!"

Miss Tarlton, "Now class, it's so near Christmas that we aren't going to have a lesson tomorrow."

Miss Thomas, "I don't believe I'll have you answer prepared and unprepared today."

NOTICE

Hey! L-I-S-T-E-N!! Have you noticed that little brown box by the front door marked "Student Box?" That box is for the whole school. When you get any scandal or otherwise on anybody, friend or enemy, write it on a piece of paper and drop it in that box. If it is readable it may stand publication.

Better Foods with Frigidaire

Frigidaire electric refrigeration preserves all the original goodness of any food until you are ready to use it. It freezes ice for table use.

Lettuce and celery retain their crispness. Tomatoes are kept indefinitely at the most palatable stage of ripeness. Fruits are kept with all their appetizing flavor and appearance. And meats, butter, eggs and milk—all taste better when kept fresh with Frigidaire.

Frigidaire electric refrigeration works automatically and inexpensively from home electric current. It makes you entirely independent of outside ice supply.

Come in and let us show you what Frigidaire will do—how it will bring new convenience to your home at low cost.

HI SENIOR EVENTS

V. M. M.

The February graduating class has elected the Reverend Mr. Reed of the Polytechnic Baptist Church, as the deliverer of the baccalaureate address. This sermon is to be held at night.

The Hi-senior play is to be given either the last week of January or the first week of February in the school auditorium.

The play, "All On Account of Polly," is to be presented by this class. The caste will not only include the February graduates, but also some of the most popular June students. Rehearsals will begin sometime during the week of December 13. Due to the Christmas "rush" all students are urged to begin saving their nickels and dimes, so they can buy an orchestra seat.

The skating party has been postponed until after Christmas owing to other school activities which have to be attended to.

FISHMAN

Boy, Howdy! Watch those freshmen rush around getting ready to go home for Christmas holidays! All the upper fish are excited, wondering what dear old Santa Claus will bring them. But the freshmen are not worried because they manage to see what's hidden on that dark shelf for them before the time arrives.

The seniors are not the only ones that draw a Mary Pickford! Just take a squint at Reba Crossly!

Ah! Isn't he 'cute?' That's what all the girls say about Jack Newell, the Smallest fish in the freshman's pond.

GIRL RESERVES

The Polytechnic Club has, so far, been the only club to obtain the three flags, Christian, United States and Girl Reserves. The Girl Reserve flag is of soft, white wool bunting with a blue triangle in the middle and the initials "G. R."

The Christian flag is also white but with a blue square in the left hand side. In the square is a bright red cross.

Nedra Cooper was sent as delegate to the Press Association at Belton. A program was given Friday for the purpose of paying for the trip.

The library will have some books added to it; this gift will come also, from the club.

IS ZAT SO?

A Texas Chesterfield

Fort Worth has the most polite man in the world. When a woman apologized for gouging him in the eye with her parasol, he said, "Don't mention it, I have another one."

It Can't Be Done

"What's the matter with your little boy?"

"He was playing cowboy and tried to ride the range."

Told by a Fond Parent

There had been an epidemic of chicken-pox but little Johnny had managed to keep free of it. One morning, however, he came rushing downstairs, excitedly.

"Oh, Daddy," he shouted, "I'm sure I've got chicken-pox. I've just found a feather in the bed."

HI Y CLUB

At the meeting of representatives of the Hi Y clubs of the city on December 11 a formal resolution was made to the effect that each club share in a citywide campaign in which "cheer baskets" will be given to those who are less fortunate than some of their friends. Although the plans have not fully matured, it is hoped that the local club will be able to enlist the aid of the Girl Reserves in this undertaking.

The suggestion is expected to be carried out most faithfully owing to the fact that interest in both the Hi Y and Girl Reserves is glowing warmly through all opposition.

2B CLASS HAS HIKE

The 2B class met at the school at 6:30 p. m. to go on the hike. Sixteen members went. We hiked about three miles. We made a large bon fire and had supper. Two of the teachers, Miss Haley and Miss Witherspoon, were chaperons. We all had a good time.

2B CLASS PINS RECEIVED

DOROTHEA'S CHRISTMAS

Not long ago a little girl by the name of Dorothea Gretchen, came to America with her father. Her mother was dead. As they were very poor her father had come to America in hopes of getting money to support them.

They arrived in the summer, but as there was not much work to be had they barely existed. The little money that they had kept them until winter.

Dorothea's father could not stand a cold winter and he caught pneumonia. After staying between life and death for a few days he died. Dorothea grieved very much over his death, but as she was a very brave girl, she decided to do the best she could about it. One of the neighbors kept her and in return she helped around the house as much as possible.

It was nearing Christmas and Dorothea began to think about what she could buy with the money she had saved. She had always given something to her father, but this year she had no father, so she decided to give a present to a little girl of her acquaintance. She spent all the money she had for this present.

She did not expect anything for Christmas, although she wanted a little doll as much as she had ever wanted anything. On Christmas Eve she crept out on the porch, took her shoes off and set them down beside her, thinking that the great Santa Claus would not forget. She waited until she fell asleep.

On Christmas morning a kind man and his daughter came by. They saw little Dorothea and stopped. As they were giving presents to the poor little boys and girls, they left a little doll and candy and fruit there by her. In the morning when Dorothea woke up she was very much surprised and she was very glad that her dear old Santa Claus had not forgotten her.

SWEEPING DOWN THE HALLS

By OXFORD BAGS

Oh! say have you seen Miss Reid's red coat? "F'heaven sakes."

Extra! Extra! Big Battle! Kid (Blacky) Hays vs. Kid (Pull-it) McCarty.

Permanent wave legs Howell—Howling around as usual—"Don't say anything. Sh! Sh!"

Where in the world did you get that sweater, Tom Hays? Oh! too bad, somebody died and you're in mourning. I just wanted to know.

Shreak, Howell (T) was my friend until he moved to the back seat of Miss Robinson's room and now me and him are enemies, absolutely.

Oh! I—Did—Not.

Frank Graham, what are you wearing there, a longhorn or steer sweater? Oh! you're from Texas, are you? Well, the only difference I see is Texas colors are gold and white.

Can you imagine anyone so dumb as to wear RED Oxford bags? Yes, EDD WHITE.

Did j-iver see so many passient dresses (red especially), for instance, Pauline Wilkerson's?

Eddie Miller passing down the hall. What are you doing here (peanut)?

I axk ye, Vaile, why the limp, gotten to be an old man? Oh! is that right—three cheers for the Delta Sigma Upsilon.

Goody! Goody! here comes Mr. Brous to keep the first period study hall.

Dot Davies airing down to her locker.

Say, what ye take for them stockings, Abbigale Wilson?

Any you birds seen Miss Mosley's green Baby Lincoln?

Yea, me and Pop Boone are both good.

Maybe Viola Allen can't write good stories.

Lieutenant (Pull-it) McCart trying to trim up some rookies.

Mr. Vance strolling down the hall with hand in his pockets. No! I don't know if there is anything in them or not.

If a few girls don't stop wearing those loud stockings, we are all gonna be deaf.

I wish you all a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. I sure hope you get the cars (Fords) I'm mailing you for Christmas.

L. C. A.'s MEET

The Spanish Club met Tuesday in the auditorium. As our secretary, Feenie Marie Murphy, was absent, the roll was called and the minutes were read by Mildred Calfey. A report was made by the pin committee, and the club decided on their pin for this year. Several Spanish songs were sung and then we adjourned.

The club is planning some Spanish games for their next meeting. We are also planning a Spanish program to be given in the auditorium sometime in the near future.

Why Topsy Holcomb likes Spanish class so well.

SANTA CLAUS

By EDWINA ALLEN

The holiday time is drawing near
The children welcome this time of year,
For Santa, a man of great renown,
Visits every hamlet and town.

The twenty-fourth of each December
Every child will remember,
That when all is quiet and still
He stealthily comes their stockings to fill

Santa who with utmost care
Inspects each stocking hanging there,
And fills with good things to the toe
Of nuts and candies, and horns to blow.

This man of reindeer fame
Although he has not changed his name
Has swapped his deers and his sled
For an airplane instead.

And now they neither look nor listen
For bells that with snowflakes glisten,
But for the airplane's merry hum
In which they know he is to come.

No other man on earth I deem
Is held in every child's esteem
As dear old Santa with good cheer
For every boy and girl each year.

EVER BEEN THERE?

There's a town called Don't You Worry,

On the banks of the River Smiles,
Where the Cheer-up and Be-happy
Blossom sweetly all the while.
Where the Never Grumble flower
Blooms beside the fragrant Try,
And the Ne'er Give Up and Patience
Point their faces to the sky.

In the valley of Contentment,
In the province of I Will,
You will find the lovely city,
At the foot of No-Fret Hill,
There are thoroughfares delightful
In this charming town,
And on every hand are shade trees
Named the Very Seldom Frown.

REGIMENTAL NEWS

(Regimental Headquarters, Central High School, Fort Worth, Texas)

The entire R. O. T. C. regiment turned out in force Friday, December 4, to witness the awarding of the medals to the cadets, and the award of the title of Honorary Colonel to Miss Evelyn Summers. Miss Summers' essay was selected from 800 competing essays from high school girls of Fort Worth. Major H. W. Stinnes was chairman of the committee of judges.

The following were guests of the R. O. T. C. at this entertainment: Mr. T. L. Vance, Mr. M. H. Moore, Mr. Matt Jure, Captain G. Munte-neau, and the commandants of the various schools, Lieutenant R. B. Bradley, Lieutenant I. Maxwell, Sergeant R. Head, and Sergeant R. L. Van Story.

The first speaker on the program was the Commander-in-chief of the entire Fort Worth Cadet Corps, Mr. M. H. Moore. Mr. Moore may be quoted as saying, "Cadet training leads to pure manhood and wonderful citizenship. The greatest peril of our country today is the lack of respect for the law. Cadet training teaches obedience to the law. The most valuable thing to come from R. O. T. C. training is that the boys will have learned to respect the law."

Mr. Matt Jure, representative of the Bothwell-Kane post, American Legion, awarded the medals to the cadets. In a short talk before the awards were made Mr. Jure said that in his opinion cadet training was a very wonderful thing for the boys. The medals were then awarded. The following received Merit Medals, for a good average in all work: Major W. Dunn, 1st Lieut. M. Garland, and 2nd Lieut. E. Fry. Efficiency medals, for general efficiency were awarded to the following commissioned officers: Capt. A. B. Spain, Capt J. Gorzyca, 1st Lieut. S. Powers, 2nd Lieuts. F. Singleton, G. Ingram, N. Greene. The following non-commissioned officers received awards: Sgts. W. Martin and Cox. Captain C. Amacker was awarded an efficiency medal, and 1st Lieut. M. P. Daniels received the merit award. They were unable to be present.

Miss Summers was awarded the title of Honorary Colonel by Major Stinnes. In a very interesting talk Major Stinnes told of some of the things he had seen in France, and of his opinion of the value of cadet work. He then presented Miss Summers with her award. Colonel Summers made a very fine speech of acceptance that won the adoration of all the cadets present. The Colonel was then deluged with flowers, until, as some wag expressed it, "she needed a truck." The colonel received flowers from companies A, B, C, D, and I. She also received flowers from the Regimental Staff, and the Band.

Captain G. T. Fleet, P. M. S. & T., then concluded the program with a talk on the purposes of the Cadet training in the high schools. He explained that the training was not to fight only but to study, respect the law, and so forth.

Major Weldon Dunn, cadet commander of the R. O. T. C. regiment made a short talk on the "Benefits of Cadet Training." It was enjoyable to everyone.

The Crack Platoon competition, held Monday the 14, was won by the composite platoon representing the Polytechnic companies.

CADET NEWS

By Lieut. Wm. Sutton

There has been quite a decided change in the appearance of the Central High Cadets in the past week. Some of these boys have always been neat, and others who are neat now see that it won't hurt a fellow to do a little extra work. I must say, and I'm sure all will be forced to agree, that there was not a better set of boys on the field than the Central boys, as to their clean uniforms, rifles, and other equipment. The boys lost the drill but we must remember that they have another hand to play within a month, and we are quite sure that Central will get the honor banner of that Fort Worth R. O. T. C. to keep this next time.

Central Platoon Starts Work For Next Competition

Even though our boys were unable to carry off the crack Platoon contest a second time, we are proud of the attempt they made in the face of the adverse conditions.

The drill was held Monday, December 14, at Poly Ward School.

First place was won by the Poly platoon and second by the Junior platoon. Even though we lost our boys still have plenty fight left in them, and they are grimly determined to conquer at the next contest.

The entire drill was handled by the Regimental staff, under Major Weldon Dunn. The staff is composed of the following officers:

Major Dunn, Capt. Charles Amacker, Captain Joe Loughry, 1st. Lieut. William Sutton, 1st. Lieut. Robert Hendricks, 2nd. Lieut.s E. Fry, L. Nutt, and G. Stafford.

The roster of the Central platoon follows:

Capt. Allison B. Spain, platoon commander; Sergeant Tucker, platoon Sergeant; Sergeant H. Smith, guidon bearer; Sergeants W. Morgan and G. Rozelle; Corporals, Gulley, G. Barrow, and C. Harkrider; Privates, Kilman, G. Margain, Wood, Askew, Smith, Purvis, Shields, Brooks, Cohen, Dawson, Rogers, Lovel, Holcomb, Wiger, F. Ferguson, Duke, Michael, Summers, Hudgins, Jones, and Wolfe.

The color guard is as follows:

Sergeants Joe Mulholland and Ross Pitt, Color Sergeants; Sergeant Lee Morriss and Corporal Wales, Color Guards.

Work has been started on the next competition, already.

Major Dickinson and Captain Justice were sure glad to see our boys fight like they did even though they did lose the drill. In behalf of the boys, I wish to thank them and the school for their interest in the achievements of our boys. We wish to praise the good work of the Major, and the great help she has been to us. Nevertheless, Captain Justice couldn't have possibly been equaled as to her keen interest and good talks toward the company. We thank them both, also Major Dunn Too.

Captain Spain, in a letter to his company, praised his men for their drilling and working so nobly, and stated that they would sure be present on the field at the next competition. He deserves much credit for the unflinching work which he gave to his men, and the great achievements which he gained. All of his men are right with him on every occasion, and that is a quality which not all officers have. I too, wish to praise the men on their work, and good cheer.

There has been quite a bit of untruthful statements made, and printed pertaining to the supposed errors of the cadet corps lately, and as usual, a number of people have believed it. It is therefore, very true when I say a bird will swallow most anything before it gets its eyes open. And as for those who were the instigators, I can say, "Give a fool rope enough and he will hang his own self."

There has been a Regimental News Editor selected by Captain Fleet, for the purpose of keeping on record all the publications on the Cadet Corps. At the end of the year this record will be published so that all may see just where the corps stands as to policy, standard, publicity, and other interesting items.

A number of teachers in the schools who have the privilege of having cadets in their classes, have been sending in credit to the rating officers for the good lessons produced by the cadets. This is very fine, for cadets are supposed to have a good lesson every day, and their co-operation is very greatly appreciated.

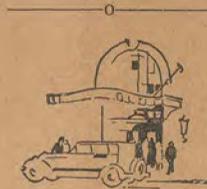

Later on in the year a small rifle range will be erected on the Central campus for the use of the cadets in target practice. From the material we have this year, I think a very good rifle range may be selected. The boys will take instruction under Sargeant Van Story who has a flock of medals for rifle and pistol marksmanship.

On the same range for the boys, or one constructed for the girls, the sponsors of the cadet units will be instructed in Rifle Marksmanship, also. This, I am sure, will be of great interest to all the girls in the schools. At the close of the season, a contest between the sponsors will be held. The winning sponsor will receive a medal. Central has two mighty good contestants to put in the contest.

MARJORIE'S CHRISTMAS

Marjorie Jordan, a beautiful seventeen-year-old high school girl, was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. James Jordan. "The Jordans," if you please. Jim Jordan was one of the most prominent lawyers in the city, and one of the wealthiest. His daughter, as may well be imagined, was spoiled and willful. (It might not be amiss to add that even in her babyhood, Marjorie's favorite occupation had been grabbing for things, and getting them.)

The story opens about four weeks before Christmas, but even as early as this, Marjorie was anticipating the joys and delights of the coming festivities, and she was impatient as a small child.

"This Christmas is going to be the nicest of all," she said, already picturing the shiny new saxophone and the brand new roadster. "I'm going to get just the grandest things! Mamma said she couldn't think of anything more for me, 'cause I've got so much already, but believe me, I can always think of something new and nice—'n I generally get it, too."

The telephone began ringing shrilly.

"Let me answer it, mamma," she called as her mother started to the telephone. "I just know it's Roger. He said he'd call me up tonight," and she skipped to the telephone.

"Hello—? Well, just a minute," she said as she disappointedly handed the receiver to her mother.

Mrs. Jordan took the receiver in her hand and listened for a brief space of time. "—What?" and she hung up the receiver and sank into a nearby chair. When she regained her composure, she said, "Marjorie, your father has gone bankrupt!"

"Mother! You can't mean it?" exclaimed Marjorie breathlessly.

"Yes, my dear, it is all too true," sighed Mrs. Jordan helplessly.

They passed the next few days in trying to adjust themselves to the inevitable confusion of the new situation.

"You must go to work, Marjorie, if you wish to have any sort of Christmas whatsoever."

Marjorie looked in despair at her delicate, carefull manicured hands, at her silk slip of a dress, and at her slender heeled satin pumps, and could scarcely keep from screeching.

"You might as well get used to the idea, Marjorie," said her mother. "It won't be so hard if you take it good naturedly."

"I know, mamma, but what could I do? I don't know stenography, and even if I did, I could never get a job when I have just after school hours to put into it. Neither could I work in a department store."

"Marjorie, have you entirely forgotten your ability to paint?"

"No—but—oh! I could paint handkerchiefs and stationery. All the girls are doing it."

"The very idea! But have you the materials?"

"Most of them. But mother, couldn't I work at Mrs. Tiffany's gift shop? I'm sure she would let me."

So Marjorie started off to Mrs. Tiffany's, intent on "landing a job."

Let us look at Marjorie a few weeks later. She is in the gift shop, busily engaged in painting a flappe on a handkerchief.

"You see," she explained, "these handkerchiefs will have to be picoted. Then they'll be ready to send away. Wanta see some book ends I've enameled?" and she proceeded to lead me to a show case which quite took my breath. Handkerchiefs, stationery, plaques, card table covers, and numerous other beautiful gifts, all hand-painted. And Marjorie, playful, carefree, selfish Marjorie, had done all this!

Marjorie always looked back on this Christmas with a secret satisfaction because—

On this bright, frosty Christmas morning she awoke and scampered to the dining room laden with gifts.

"Mother!" she exclaimed, "this is the happiest Christmas I ever spent in my life!"

TO JUNIOR

This poem was written to extend the congratulations of the Vocational High school football team to Junior Hi for winning the championship of the class B. city race, by La Vinne Grace:

You played a mighty good game,
boys,
And played it on the square;
You hit them hard and hit them low,
But you hit them on the square.

So when the game was over,
For each had done his part,
There was a smile on all your faces
And a warm spot in your heart.

And now the season's over—
Here's to the Orange and Blue,
Just sending congratulations
From our team to you.

A LETTER TO SANTA

I wisht to instruck you as to what
I want for Xmas.

Being there is only a few more days til Xmas I am sending this letter early.

I ast paw for some money to buy a Xmas present for him, so I will let you bring it too him. Bring him a good nikel segar as that is the only kind he smokes anyways. He shore would like it.

For myself I would like to have a nigger-shooter and a air-gun to kill birds and rats with. I would also like to have some cards, Mr. Claus, as paw said he wanted me to learn a trade.

And Mr. Claus don't forgit to bring maw something nice.

I wood write more but the postman is coming and I have to hurry up.

And say Mr. Claus if you git this letter K. O. please telegraf me that you did the same.

Hoping you are the same,

I am, yours truly,

LOUIS J. HADEN.

MACHINE SHOP NEWS

Twenty-eight boys are now enrolled in the machine shop course. These boys have chosen this work with a definite aim in view, that of fitting themselves to earn a living. Having selected the machinists' trade as a vocation, they are taking advantage of the opportunity to remain in school and add to their general fund of knowledge while their efforts are centered on mastering the fundamentals of the trade.

The boys spend one-half the school day in the machine shop where they work on jobs which are representative of the work they will encounter when they leave school and enter a commercial shop. The other half of the day is spent in the classroom where English, citizenship, mathematics and mechanical drawing are studied.

In addition to the work brought into the shop by the utility men of the school system, many of the boys are making tools for their personal use. These tools will help to make up their tool kits, and invaluable experience is had in their making. The range of work is such that each boy gets experience in lathe work, planing, shaping, milling, drilling and bench work. One boy is building a small steam engine, another is making a bench grinder and several are making small vises.

More important than manipulative skill is the outlook on life these boys are acquiring. They are beginning to realize that the aim of education is not to fit the pupil to avoid work, but rather to enable him to do more effectively and profitably the thing he has talent for, to the end that he will be a useful citizen and a happy and contented individual.

Harmon Pye: "Yessir, I think I would buy an airplane if it wasn't for the upkeep."

Randal B.: "I think I would buy one too if I thought I could keep it up."

MOTHER'S CHRISTMAS GIFT

It never comes to Christmas but I think about the times
We used to save our pennies, and our nickels, and our dimes,
And we bunched them all together; even little baby brother
Put in something for the present that we always gave to mother.

We began to talk about it very early in December.
'Twas a very serious matter to us children, I remember.
And we used to whisper nightly our suggestions to each other,
For by nothing cheap and tawdry could we show our love for mother.

Hers must be a gift of beauty, fit to symbolize her ways;
It must represent the sweetness and the love that marked her days;
It must be the best our money, all combined, had power to buy,
And be something that she longed for; nothing else would satisfy.

Then it mattered not the token, once the purchase had been made.
It was smuggled home, and hidden, and with other treasures laid.
And we placed our present proudly in her lap on Christmas Day,
And we smothered her with kisses and we laughed her tears away.

It never comes to Christmas but I think about the times
We used to save our pennies, and our nickels, and our dimes.
And the only folks I envy are the sisters and the brothers
Who still have the precious privilege of buying for their mothers.

OUR BASKET BALL BOYS

We have quite a bunch of boys coming out. Those who come out regularly are: Kenneth Neidholt, (captain), J. W. Taylor, Durwood Neidholt, Fred Stephenson, Joe Smith, Clarence Simpson, Warren Connally, Harold Briggs, Maurice Carter, Marvin Gresham, Carl Cooper, Billy Finch and Frank Allen. We are expecting a very good line up this year and are going to do our very best.

The boys are all wondering how G. W. will come out in track this year now that M. F. H. is gone.

We all wonder whose shoulder G. W. cried on when M. F. H. left, for you can tell by his eyes, that something besides sleep had affected them.

THE FOOTBALL BANQUET

Mrs. Boylston gave the boys a very nice reception in honor of the work which they did in football and to show her appreciation.

Those present were D. N. and O. M.; K. N. and G. S.; J. W. T. and A. S.; H. G. and A. M. C.; M. Y. and M. D.; B. F. and I. S.; O. G. and A. S.; F. A. and L. C.; C. T. and L. L.; F. S. and M. E. F.; G. W. and M. F. H.; A. H. and A. R.; C. S. and J. W.; I. B. and V. T.; T. C., H. C., J. H. W., W. C., M. Y. There were also Mr. and Mrs. Cherry, Mrs. Galen, Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Rippy.

Games were played and A. H. and A. F. R. entertained for a while with music when all sang some of the popular songs.

Miss Minnie Doris and Mr. Ira Boylston were chosen most popular boy and girl present.

Refreshments were served to all and all couples and others present left feeling their time was well spent.

OH! THAT ICE CREAM

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson gave the foot ball boys all the ice cream they could eat. Each was to invite a friend.

Those present were D. N. and O. M.; K. N. and G. S.; H. G. and A. M. C.; M. Y. and J. W.; B. F. and I. S.; C. T. and L. L.; G. W. and M. F. H.; C. S. and E. M.; J. W. T.; I. B.; F. S.; T. W.; F. S. and L. W.; Mr. and Mrs. Cherry; Mr. and Mrs. Smith; J. S. and E. J. B. and O. G. and A. S.;

Some of the boys were not present but we all ate enough cream and cake for them. We played games and all had a nice time, and wish to thank both parties for their interest in our high school.

PERSONALS

Kenneth asks:—Have you down all the basket ball boys who are coming out, and those who should be coming out, those who aren't coming out, those who want to come out, those who would be coming out if they could, and those who could come out if they would?

Mary Frances Honea, one of the Juniors of our school has left and is to enter school at Tulsa, Okla. She will be greatly missed and we are sure she will be appreciated there as she was a good pupil and had the true school spirit.

F. A. was asked why he was not at the party last Thursday night, his answer was, "Couldn't get a date, besides my foot was hurt."

"Yes, Frank, a poor excuse is better than none, you know L. C. would have been glad to go."

Diamond Hill is to have a new gym floor which we will appreciate greatly and also many others will also, for it will benefit others also.

LITERARY SOCIETY MEETS IN LIBRARY

Wednesday, December 9, the Literary society held its meeting in the library.

It was unanimously voted that the Reds and Blues get together in the program for next meeting. Due to the absence of a piano in the library. The musical program was postponed until next meeting.

After the business part of the meeting had been finished the members were given a little party, in which Dan Fillingim and Owen Wells had a peanut-eating contest, which resulted in a tie. Next came an apple eating contest by Owen Wells and Emmy Lou King. This ended in Owen's winning the race (you'll understand when you see his mouth) Emmy Lou thought she ate a worm, but she came to school the next day, looking all right.

Come on, student, you don't have to be a member to see our programs.

FORMER TEACHER HERE GETS COLLEGE POSITION

Mr. George Smallwood, a former teacher of English in Junior High, has recently been appointed to a position as teacher in the Texas Technological Institute at Lubbock. This recognition of a former instructor is very gratifying to both the teachers and students, who were acquainted with Mr. Smallwood.

For the past few years since leaving Fort Worth, Mr. Smallwood has been teaching in Dallas.

UNCOMMON OBSERVATIONS
By THE SHADOW

Well, I will tell you why I was not introduced to the students of Junior, when the editors and representatives of The Student were.

* * *

First, it would have been injurious to my methods of discovering facts. Second, there was no shadow at that time.

* * *

The reason there was no shadow then is because Bob Mayne had moved to Weatherford and no successor had been chosen.

* * *

However, all of that is past and gone, so why dwell upon it.

* * *

To show you how secret the facts pertaining to my identity are, even the office does not know who I am. To prove my statement I will quote a notice recently posted on the bulletin board.

* * *

REWARD: A liberal reward has been offered to the person or persons giving conclusive evidence to the identity of the writer who terms himself the Shadow. — Apply Ernest Parker—212.

* * *

Things of interest I have noted while traversing the tranquil halls of Junior.—Mr. Parker lecturing to two boys for getting too many demerits.

* * *

Mr. Bateman explaining a math problem.

* * *

A boy besieged by pretty girls, who were trying to sell him a ticket to a show. Loitering to see the outcome I noticed that he bought one from each of them.

MOTHER-DAUGHTER HOUR HELD BY P. T. A.

The Parent-Teachers' Association of Junior High held a Mother's and Daughter Hour, Friday, December 11, to which every mother of Junior was invited.

Mrs. J. W. Kuykendall was the principal speaker and won applause from the audience. Mrs. E. L. Goodman led the devotional. Miss Maude Pool, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. J. S. Pool, rendered two voice numbers. Leta Ray gave a "Toast to Mother." Mrs. J. W. Dickinson, dean of Poly High dismissed the audience. Seated on the stage were a number of the Fort Worth mother's interested in the girls of Junior, among whom were Mrs. O. F. Carlson, member of the school board, Mrs. Sam Calloway, president of Council of Parents and Teachers.

Mrs. W. H. Irvin, vice-president at large of Council. Mrs. James L. Cosby and Mrs. B. R. Bennett, ex-presidents of Junior P. T. A., Mrs. J. G. Carder, district child hygiene chairman, Mrs. W. K. Rose, president of Tenth ward P. T. A., Mrs. Z. W. Freeman, president, Riverside P. T. A., Mrs. E. V. Staude, past-president of the Council. Mrs. C. E. Birdsong, historian of the council, Mrs. John Berger, president of county council and Mrs. H. A. Padgett, president of South Fort Worth P. T. A.

Mrs. W. C. Palmer, Junior program chairman, arranged the program. Mrs. T. G. Dyche, president of the Junior P. T. A., presided at the meeting.

JUNIOR'S BASKETBALL PROSPECTS BRIGHT

With twenty-eight for the team, Junior ought to get a good basketball squad. Under the guidance of Coach Bergin, Junior is sure to have a good team. The squad now practices on the south side of the building, but after January 1, they will practice at Central Methodist gym. The season opens in the early part of February, with no out of town games. Those out for the team are:

Geo. Ankele, Ira Lee Beard Chas. Beard, Leroy Bigley, Davir Eddins, Thomas Emery, Bob Edisman, Wayne Fry, James Grace, Felix Higgins, Edd Tyde, Layton Jordan, Lawrence May, Percy Mims, Robert Morris, Johnnie Mullin, Elmer Norcross, Miller Pitts, Otis Stell, James Sullivan, D. C. Thompson, Allen Williams, E. B. Crow, Olin Hoover, Billy Mitchell, Walker Cabaniss, Granville Schoonmaker.

If Junior back these boys as they did the football team, Coach Bergin promises a championship team.

MISS CARTER TALKS TO SPANISH CLUB

"La Tertulia," the Spanish club met in the auditorium, Tuesday, December 14, after school. The club was called to order by the president. The first number on the program was a Spanish legend, the Poinsetta, given in Spanish by Marjorie Young, and Frances Schober acting as her interpreter. Then two piano solos were given by Diedra Dyche and Ella Mae Small. Next was a representation of a Spanish school which was very interesting.

The last on the program was a most interesting talk on Cuba, by Miss Eula Lee Carter, a teacher of Spanish in T. C. U. The club adjourned to meet Thursday, December 16, to plan for a Christmas box.

At the meeting before this a play "Al Mercado" was given. The characters were: Senora, Loreta Chiles, Maria, Dorothy Armstrong, La Creada; Virginia Mason, and Dependiente, Clifton Newton. Plans were made to take a Christmas basket to the Good-fellows December 23.

We have the latest of music in Peters Bros., 913 Houston St.

A TEST OF SERVICE

Holiday shopping is the most severe test of a store's service. From now until Christmas the volume of business is double that of any other time of the year.

Careful plans and efficient organization enable us to maintain our equilibrium under this extra pressure, and in spite of the increased number of shoppers, you will find us ready to serve you promptly, courteously and without the disturbing element of hurry and confusion.

Stripling's Store for smooth Christmas shopping until the last moment.

DELEGATES SPEAK

The cadets had charge of the first part of the extra period Wednesday December 9. Lieut. Bradley introduced the cadets from Junior who were given medals by the American Legion. Three from Junior received efficiency medals; They were Ney Green, Jean Ingram, and William Martin. There was only one merit medal won which was given to M. P. Daniel at the competitive drill at Polytechnic Monday.

The last half of the period was given to the four delegates who represented Junior at the Texas High School Press Association, Ethel Pumphrey, Juanita Eckert, Fred Hanscom and M. P. Daniel, Jr. The delegates each gave a short speech about the T. H. S. P. A. Ethel Pumphrey introduced the speakers. Fred Hanscom gave an idea as to what was learned at the association. Juanita Eckert told of the entertainment, and M. P. Daniel told other things of interest about the T. H. S. P. A.

GYPSIES ENTERTAIN JUNIOR HIGH

"The Quest of The Gypsy," a play given by the music department December 15, at the extra period, proved to be a very clever musical comedy.

Prior to the play we were entertained by the orchestra with several pleasing numbers. Miss Poindexter gave a brief outline of the play.

The following characters were very realistically impersonated.

Gypsy, Walter Vasser; Country Boy, Ney Greene; Isabelle, Marjorie Coats; Barbara, Alpha Campbell; Myra, Virgie Chestnut; Dorothy, Watie Belle Long; Rhoda, Louise Overwetter; Ida, Ruby Dunn; Jean, Delia Collins, Lillian, Eloise Dawson.

These were assisted by a chorus of twenty five. The play was enthusiastically received by the audience. It is hoped that the music department will soon present another entertainment.

JUNIOR WINS CLASS B CITY CHAMPIONSHIP

Junior High won the city title of class B. Tuesday the first by defeating Diamond Hill 19-6. Junior had suffered a defeat at Diamond Hill before during this season, but the game was ruled out.

Junior went into the game determined to make up for their former defeat and came out with the big end of the score. Diamond Hill got away to a good start rushing the ball into Junior's territory but they then lost the ball on downs. Junior was soon forced to punt. On the next play Diamond Hill fumbled and Koontz, a Junior linesman, scooped up the ball and ran sixty yards, for a touchdown. Grace kicked goal. Diamond Hill then braced and on successive first downs, carried the ball across. Cosdin making the touchdown. Dud Neidholt, with a chance to tie the score, missed the try for point. The half ended without further scoring.

Juniors second and third touchdown came in the third quarter when Kiintz again recovered a Diamond Hill fumble and ran 35 yards for a touchdown. The try for point was blocked. The third touchdown resulted from Jordan's recovering a Diamond Hill fumble and running 40 yards for a touchdown making the score 19-6 in Junior's favor. From then on Junior played a defensive game and was never in danger.

AUDITORES CAESARIS PLAN PARTY

The Auditores Caesaris met in 228 for a business meeting Wednesday afternoon December 9. The club was called to order by the president and the minutes were read and approved.

After announcing the arrival of the pins, that would be no program, a lengthy discussion, as to the kind of a Christmas program to be given was started. The final arrange ment was to let the program committee decide whether there would be a Christmas program or party or just a regular meeting.

William Morris was elected editor of the Latin Magazine Mercurius. The staff will be appointed later by the sponsor, Miss Annie aLure Walker, and the editor.

A committee of three, chairman, Ida Gilden, Dorothy May Keller and Mary Young, was appointed to compose a new club song. Last year the club song, "He Ain't Gonna Work No Mo'", was sung to the tune of its twin sister, "It Ain't Gonna Rain No Mo'," all club members sang the old song—"He Ain't Gonna Work No Mo'."
