[Note: The signature, above, is not that of an individual, but refers to the law firm of Hendricks & Smith, of Fort Worth. The paper, which follows this receipt, appears not to be an official paper. Rather, it appears to be an accumulation of notes made from court house records. It is, in part, difficult to decipher, and was perhaps hurriedly written by a representative of that law firm, although this has not been proved. The notes were probably inadvertently returned with the estate papers.]

"Distribution to Legatees of Wm G. Helms estate.
Heirs Jacob Helms father of Elizabeth, Virginia, Margaret Bolie, Mary Meeler, Caroline Allen, John C. Helms, (Amanda Hoffman, Martha Robison, Oscar Helms). For those in ( ) rec'd by W. L. [In margin]: Heirs of W. G. Helms Jacob his father/ Elizabeth, Virginia, John E., Oscar, Margaret Baily, Mary Miller, Carolin Allen, Amda Hoffman, Martha Robinson.

[Reverse side. In ink]:

It seems that Sugg was caroter at litum for three heirs Amanda Heffman, Martha Robinson and Oscar Helms. He as such guardian received 160 acres of land out of the S E quarter of the W Oneal 604 acre survy. Wm his protest May 1st 1874 it seems that he represented John Helms dec'd. This would give to each of the heirs 40 acres. On the basis of there being two children of Jacob H. at the time of the absolutative on this reposeotetions [?] Oscar would have 40 acres in the O Neal Survy from his brother 32 same survy from his father 88 in the Themos Helms survy. B. P. Ayres as admr of Jacob Helms opents [?] March 23-59 that a note on Wm Wadkins due said Helms had come to his hands, the note was due in July 55. [Note: The wording of the above notes has been checked by three persons for accuracy. We think that the handwriting has been correctly interpreted, but nowhere were we able to find a definition of (1) caroter, or (2) absolutative on this reposeotetions. We therefore consulted an attorney at law, and were advised that despite what the man wrote, the interpretation of the first phrase could only be "guardian ad litum," and the second phrase could only refer to an application for administration, as used here.]

ABSTRACTS OF OBITUARIES AND DEATH NOTICES

From

The Texas Baptist Herald

Abstracted by Mildred Bagley Smith

The obituaries and death notices which have appeared in Footprints regularly since August 1969 were abstracted from newspapers on microfilm at Fleming Library, Serials Division, Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth, Texas. Beginning with this issue the format will be altered slightly. The obituaries at this period are consistently found on page three of each issue, therefore, instead of documenting the issue, page, and column of the newspaper following each notice, the date of the newspaper will be found at the beginning of all notices of that date, with the page number only if found on a page other than the third page.

Many of the short notices are to be found in a column entitled "Secular Department." Although the editor seldom indicated the source of his information the varied items appearing under this heading were culled from more detailed news items which had appeared shortly prior to date of publication in other newspapers received by the editor on an exchange basis. Interested readers should attempt to locate extant newspapers of the period and locality of residence for a more detailed account. Should a copy of the paper carrying the original account have survived, it may be found in libraries far removed from the locale, rather than in the local area.

PALO PINTO COUNTY, TEXAS, MARRIAGE BOOK A, 1857-1881

Continued from Volume 17, Number 4, November 1974. This portion of Marriage Book A was compiled by Joan B. and the late Claude W. Irvine, Mineral Wells, Texas.

BIBLIOPRINTS

News from the Library

By Patricia Chadwell

The really outstanding news from the library is that we are surviving, cut back as we are. In fact, after having had a bit of vacation, both Paul Campbell and I are almost back to normal, and have quit biting patrons.

Because of our staff cuts, we have had to cut back on services. Genealogists will probably be most affected by our having to use a form letter in reply to requests for written information (our service policy--no research for anyone, but quick checks whenever possible--remains the same) and by our having to give up doing programs for community organizations.

We are back to being open for the full library schedule, 9-9 Monday-Friday, 9-6 Saturday, and 2-6 Sundays. Because of lack of staff (although we are fortunate to have occasional help from Miss Beatrice Grant, the Central Building Floater), professional help is not always available. This is particularly true during some lunch and supper hours, and on Sundays. The Library Clerks are not permitted to answer reference questions, although they can help in finding material on the shelves, retrieving material from closed areas, use of microfilm readers, and making copies. We hope that you'll be patient with our clerks and we especially recommend that, if you need reference or advisory service, you check before coming on Sunday.

A big Thank You to all members of the Society who rallied round during our recent problems with City Hall. The Library Board effected a compromise which left the branch librarians at their former grade but permitted those of us in the Central Building to be downgraded. Although we came out losers this time, there is always next time; your support really helps.

Last month we received a book of a type which usually does not impress me: Pedigrees of Some of the Emperor Charlemagne's Descendants, Volume II, published by the Order of the Crown of Charlemagne in the United States of America. Since no documentation is provided for the lineages, I do not find the body of the book of great use, but the foreword, written by Timothy Field Beard, Genealogist General of the Order and Librarian of the New York Public Library, is the best bibliographical essay on American Genealogy I have ever read, and should be carefully studied by every serious genealogist.

Members of the Society have contributed $30.00 to our Binder Fund, which will be greatly appreciated.

BIBLIOPRINTS

News from the Library

By Patricia Chadwell

We have a lot of thank yous to say in this issue: first, to Lucille Miller and Doris Dobbins, who gave up hair appointments to help us get the exchanges into shape; second, to Mattie Blaine, who is helping with the bibliography for the workshop; and third, to those who contributed to the binder fund. With the thirty dollars recently contributed, and the remainder of the "slush" fund which the Society gave me several years ago, we were able to purchase 100 binders at 58¢ each, a very good price.

Several donors of material are due thanks also. Through the Society we received gifts from Don E. Ransom, Jr. (Three Ransom books on microfilm); Mr. and Mrs. Tom Murphy (Several mauve-decade annuals from LBJ's alma mater); Logan D. Wilson (No Beginning--No End; My Family History); and Charles S. McClesky (Descendants of Thomas Trammell, Revolutionary Soldier). J. A. Doggett, of Greensboro, North Carolina, has donated a copy of The Lambert, Lambeth Family of North Carolina, by Mary Norton Doggett. Arthur Hart gave us his 1974 issues of Footprints, a most fortunate gift, since when we went to bind ours, all but the May issue had been taken. Mrs. Cy Martin, who is doing research on the history of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, gave us The Episcopal Church in Northern Texas. Last, but not least, Jean Park Hazlewood has given another of her indexes to the 1880 Texas census, this time for Franklin County. May they all receive stars in their crowns.

The annual skull-busting preparation of budget requests has just been finished; some statistics which came to light during that period may be of interest to our readers. First, although we have shown only a slight (about 5%) drop in the number of registered users, reference assists are down 32.5%, which is so close to 1/3 that it seems graphic proof that the two of us don't stretch as far as our previous staff of three. The average price of the books which we purchase for your use has risen during the last year from $10.11 a volume to $13.72, a staggering 35%. Microfilm has gone from $6, $7 or $8 a roll (National Archives) to $12; newspaper microfilm to $15 a roll. This represents a doubling of costs. Needless to say, we have had no corresponding increases in our material allotments.

 An Exhibit of the Estate of William Norris Decd.
 The 320 acre Survey of Wm. Norris lies 2 miles S.E. of Birdville on the waters of Fossil Creek about the year 1854 Wm Norris sold to Rush Wallace 60 acres of said Survey on the eastern part of the 320 acre survey Known as the Stanley survey claimed by him and said Wallace that sale left 340 acres in Norris tract it proved afterward one Martin owned the survey and Wallace's title was imperfect which he himself afterward acknowledged Martin recorded the deed in Fort Worth. Finally the sheriff of Tarrant Co. about 1869 executed said 320 acres of Land for the debts of said Martin and sold the same to one
 T. Butler I went and seen Wallace and warned him of the sale that 80 acres proving defective deducted of the 340 acres leaves 260 acres in the survey. 200 acres belong to the widow
 Norris leaving only 60 acres to be divided among 4 heirs
 Namely Kesiah Walker; Rebecca Hightower; Mary Manship and Jane Melton these 4 were daughters and heirs of William Norris dec My wife Kesiah Walker bought the right of Rebecca Hightower and Wm. Manship, son of Mary Manship Deceased. Mary Manship left 3 children this leaves 1 share and 2/3 of a share to be divided the Express wish of the heirs that is Manship and Melton that their portion of the land be taken of the North portion of the tract, commencing at the North Western corner of the Wallace 60 acre survey then west with Jones' S

A penciled paper captioned "Description of Land" refers to 200 said Norris 220 acre survey [boundaries described], and on the reverse side, also in pencil, is the following chart:

BIBLIOPRINTS

News from the Library

By Patricia Chadwell

The biggest news is that the Supreme Court has decided in the Library's favor, so now our new central building is a probability rather than merely a possibility. We do not know any of the particulars yet, such as where, when or exactly how, and the opening is at least three years away, but a major obstacle is now out of the way.

We missed a volume of Valley Leaves between the time they stopped exchanging and our getting a subscription okayed. Can anyone donate Volume 8, so that we will have a complete set?

Probably the most significant addition to the Genealogy collection this year is Marion J. Kaminkow's United States Local Histories in the Library of Congress: A Bibliography. Knowing there is a copy of a local history that you are interested in at the Library and if the book is no longer in copyright, this means you will be able to obtain a microfilm copy of that book. Since the Library of Congress's collection is probably the most inclusive in the country, this bibliography becomes the first place to look to see if a local history is available on any place of interest. The work is in four volumes: I. Atlantic States, Maine to New York; II. Atlantic States, New Jersey to Florida; III. The Middle West, which also includes the Southern States as far west as Texas; and IV. The West, which includes Oklahoma and all states North and West. The call number for the set is GEN 016.9291 K.

We are making progress in collecting census indexes. The 1830 Kentucky is now complete, and the third volume of Sistler's index to Tennessee 1850 is here, covering names through Jonas.

Have you ever been frustrated because we couldn't find a book you wanted on the library shelf? If so, would you be willing to volunteer three or four hours once a month to help us solve the problem by reading shelves to make sure the books are in proper order? If you would, please call us and let us make a date with you.

As you can see by the following list of books, the catalog department has been busy turning out books for the department. If you haven't been in lately, we hope you will find something here to tempt you.

COMPTROLLERS PLAT BOOK OF TEXAS 1850-1874

An old plat book of Texas towns, found in the Archives Division of the Texas State Library, has been reproduced and placed in the Fort Worth Public Library as a Memorial to Betty Coburn Winchester, late Editor of Footprints.

The office of Comptroller of Public Accounts, as a state office, was first created by the Constitution of 1845 and superceded a similar office established during the Republic of Texas in 1837. Among the duties of the office are to keep the general accounts of the state, collect the taxes, supervise the county tax assessor-collectors and audit their accounts, audit the state treasury, and serve as ex officio member of several state boards. [Handbook of Texas, Vol. 1, p. 389]

Under the constitution of the Republic of Texas, an assessor of taxes was simply hired by the county board and the sheriff served as collector, but the Constitution of 1845 set up a separate, elective office of assessor and collector which was retained by the Constitutions of 1861 and 1866. Under the Constitution of 1869, the functions were separated, with the justices of the peace serving as assessors and the sheriffs, as collectors. In 1875, however, a separate office of assessor and collector was again established. [Handbook of Texas, Vol. 2, p. 713]

The Constitution of 1845 provided that taxation should be equal and uniform throughout the state and that the legislature had the power to levy an income tax and to tax occupations other than mechanical and agricultural. The main levy was the general property tax, called then, as now, the ad valorem tax. The most productive of the occupational taxes were those on liquor, various mercantile businesses, and the professions. [Handbook of Texas, Vol. 2, p. 710]

For tax purposes, plats of the towns were needed by the Comptroller's office. It was the responsibility of the tax assessor and collector of the various counties to see that such plats were forwarded to Austin.

Towns were located in various ways, because of some attraction to a certain area by settlers, because of a railroad, a crossroads, or some other commercial endeavor such as a mill or a trading post. Sometimes an individual would start a town if he thought that there was sufficient interest in an area. In the case of newly created counties, the land for the county seat town was often donated by one or more individuals, as an inducement to bring business. In any case, towns had to be surveyed and platted. The town's area was divided into streets and numbered blocks, and the blocks were divided into numbered lots. Then a sale of town lots was held, usually at public auction. Deeds pertaining to ownership of property in a town will mention the block number and lot number and perhaps the name of the street on which the property was located. With this information, and with a plat of the town, one may locate where a man lived or had a business in the town.

We are indebted to newspaper man Sam Kinch for first calling our attention to the old plat book in Austin. The Fort Worth Star Telegram's evening edition, October 21, 1965 (Sec. 1, p. 6), contained an article entitled "Early Map Found - County Paid $2 To State in 1851," by Sam Kinch. The early map, referred to, was a plat of Birdsville, first county seat of Tarrant County. Some of the historical facts and conclusions in the article were not quite correct, but mention was made that the town's plat had been found in a yellowing book that had similar information about towns of other Texas counties. At that time (1965), the old book was in the office of the Comptroller, in Austin, but that office was planning to give it to the Texas State Library.

In October, 1973, Mrs. I. Neal Samuels and Mrs. Leonard Ingalls showed the newspaper article to Mrs. Marilyn von Kohl at the Archives Division. If the book had been presented to the archives, it was not catalogued. It was finally located and catalogued "Comptroller's Plat Book, 1850-1874," since these are the years of the earliest and latest plats.

The book is quite large and in very bad condition. Some of the pages may have been lost. In the front, an incomplete index indicates that the book contains plats of towns from about forty-five counties. Actually, there are sixty-eight plats, representing some fifty counties, most of which are undated, but the majority of them are probably of the 1850's vintage. Some of the plats are worn and torn. Some are so darkened with age that reproduction is very poor. Mrs. Ingalls photographed each page of the book. Later, through the courtesy of Mr. John M. Kinney, Director of the Archives Division, Texas State Library, the Fort Worth Genealogical Society was able to have the entire book photocopied. The society purchased the positive copies and the archives kept the negative copies. The positive copies, together with other information, have been bound in a large blue book and placed in the Fort Worth Public Library. The blue book contains an index with comments on the condition of the originals of the various plats.

A volunteer group of FWGS members has traced all of the plats on white vellum. With this issue of Footprints, we begin the publication of a selected series of the plats, photographically reduced from the tracings.

BIRDVILLE

Before its creation Tarrant County was a part of Voting Precinct 9 of Navarro County. Elections were held at Johnson's Station which was the only settlement that had a name at that time (1848-1849).

Fort Worth was established in May, 1849. A few months later the Texas Legislature passed an act (signed into law on 20 December 1849) creating Tarrant County. The act stipulated that an election for county officers was to be held on the first Monday in August, 1850, that the county seat would be located within five miles of the center of the county, that the location would be chosen by the electorate, and that the said location would bear the name of Birdsville. Presumably, the name was in honor of Major Jonathan Bird who had established Bird's Fort in 1841 on what was later called Calloway's Lake, some nine or ten miles to the east of the later site of Birdsville.

The election for county officials was held on 5 August 1850. Those elected were: Seaborn Gilmore (Chief Justice), Archibald F. Leonard (County Clerk), Henry Suggs (County Treasurer), Sanders Elliot (District Clerk), Francis Jourdan (Sheriff), Vincent J. Hutton (Assessor & Collector), and Isaac Thomas (Coroner). Hutton resigned in December, 1850, and the county court appointed John A. Hust to take his place.

There were three voting precincts. Their elected officials were: Justices of the Peace George Akers and John W. Ellison (Pct. 1), B. P. Ayers and [James W.] Lane (Pct. 2), and Walling Rogers and Robert Smith (Pct. 3). Constables were John B. York (Pct. 1), John Goodwin (Pct. 2), and Berry Hall (Pct. 3).

The organization of the county seems to have been less of a problem than the locating of the county seat. The 1849 act creating the county had stipulated that Vincent J. Hutton, Walling R. Rogers, [Edmund or William] Little, M. T. Johnson, and Sanders Elliot, or a majority of them, were appointed commissioners to lay off the site chosen into blocks and lots, and to proceed to sell the lots at auction, the income from the sales to be used for the erection of public buildings.

A month after the election of county officials, the Texas Legislature passed an act (approved 4 September 1850) "defining the time for holding an election for the county seat of Tarrant County . . ." The election was to be held on the first Monday in August 1851. Until that time the county courts were to be held at the house of E. M. Daggett in the vicinity of Fort Worth. The date set, almost a year away, was not to the liking of the settlers already established in the northeastern part of the county. In November, 1850, they petitioned the legislature, stating that the date was "too remote a day" and asking that a law be passed "bringing on said election as early a day as possible." No action was taken in response to the petition; the election was held in August, 1851.

The location of Bird's Fort was not near the center of the county, nor was the settlement around Johnson's Station, thus they could not be considered. William Norris and George Akers offered to donate forty acres, each, from their respective adjoining surveys, for the county seat, their land being within five miles of the center. It is entirely conceivable and probable that Fort Worth, from the very beginning, had its eye on the county seat. It was also near the center and, from the beginning, influential people favored the area. But, at that early date (1850), Fort Worth had borne its name hardly over a year, was still a military post, and the creation act had stipulated that the new county seat would be named Birdsville.

Exactly what locations (if any), other than the Norris-Akers site and possibly Fort Worth, were put into nomination or voted upon is unknown, or unproven. At any rate, the Norris-Akers donation received the majority of votes and was, according to law, named Birdsville. Thus, the only thing that the new county seat had in common with Bird's Fort was a name.

On 1 December 1851, John A. Hust, the assessor and collector, sent to the comptroller's office, in Austin, a plat of the newly-laid-out town of Birdsville. Beside the plat, he wrote:

Sir, I here send you a map of the town of Birdsville in Tarrant County as the law requirs me so to do. I have only $2 of State revenew on hand at this time. I have not receved the opinion of the Atturney General that you promised to send me on the case of the Setlers at fort Worth. I am in vary Bad helth at this time. Vary Respectfly Yours,

The plat of Birdsville shows twelve blocks, each divided into eight lots. Thus, there were 96 lots in the original town. The north-south streets were named Johnson, Rogers, Main, Hutton, and Elliot. Main Street, now called Carson, lay on the dividing line between the Norris and Akers surveys. Elliot Street is now called Bewley. A small portion of Rogers Street still bears that name. The extant portion of Hutton Street is now incorrectly called "Hutto" on the Haltom-Richland area maps. Johnson Street has been taken in by the school system of the area.

The east-west streets were Edwards, Broadway, Akers, and Walker which was inadvertently unnamed on the plat. A short portion of Edwards still exists, also a portion of Walker, but Akers Street (which was nearest to present Highway 183) is no more, having been taken in by church and school lands. Broadway was the main thoroughfare which passed through the town from the east, going west to intersect the road coming south from Alton, in Denton County, and into Fort Worth via Cold Springs. With the exception of Broadway and Main, the streets of Birdsville were named for early county officials.

The Birdville Baptist Church stands on Block 11 and has a historical marker in front, facing Carson (then Main) Street. The north half of Block 7, the Public Square on the plat, is now occupied by the Church of Christ. The Birdville Coliseum occupies Block 8; in front, facing Broadway Street, is a historical marker indicating the site of Tarrant County's first court house. The correct site was more likely on Block 7, the Public Square, not on the block where the marker is located. One statement in the Texas Writers Project at the Fort Worth Public Library tends to support this, stating that "the foundation for the court house was dug in the block bordered by Walker, Carson [then Main], and Broadway Streets," thus positively indicating Block 7 on the plat.

Legal wheels turn slowly. Not until 1854 were town lots offered for sale. The Texas Legislature passed another act (approved 10 February 1854) "to change Section 5 of the [1849] act creating Tarrant County." The 1854 act stipulated that the county court was to have control of the sale of town lots and that all documents pertaining thereto would be delivered-up "within sixty days after the passage of this act." In reality, it seems, Birdsville had only a couple of years of active service as the county seat, for on 26 August 1856 another legislative act ordered that an election be held on the first Tuesday in November to locate the county seat. In this hotly-contested election, Fort Worth was (probably fraudulently) elected as the county seat, and several years of litigation ensued.

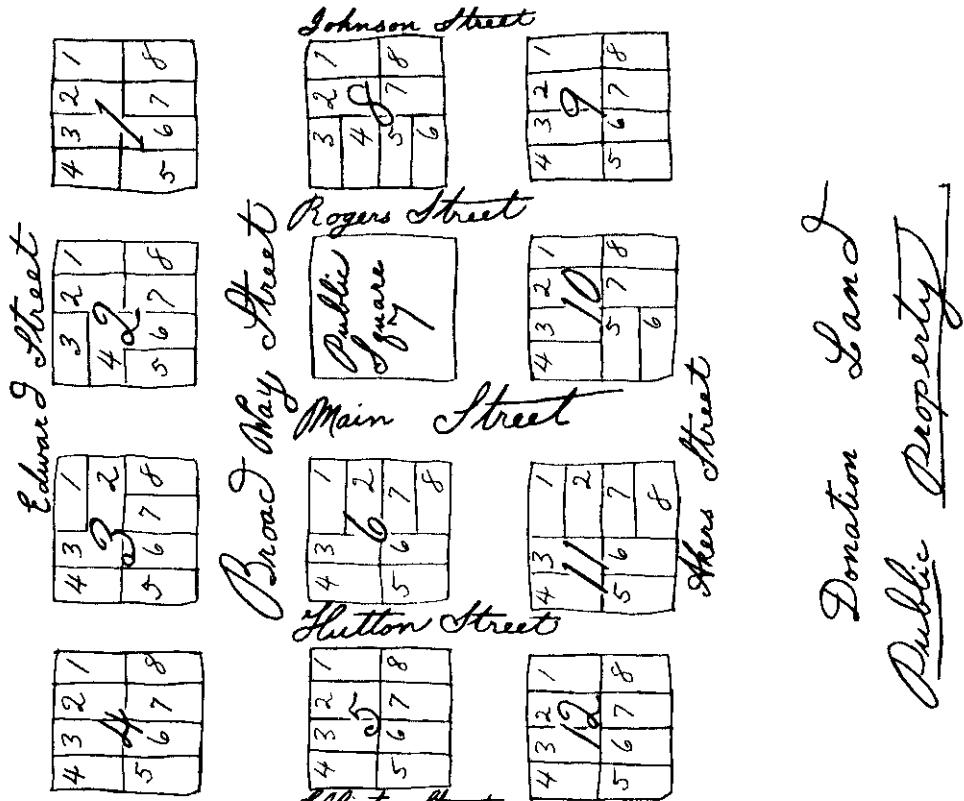

By 1860, the tax list of the county showed twenty-one persons owning one or more lots in the town of Birdsville, and forty-two owners of one or more lots in the town of Fort Worth.

DALLAS

In 1841 John Neely Bryan settled on a trail-crossing of the Trinity River, pitching his tent near what his plat later showed to be Main Street of Dallas and the waterfront on the east side of the river. Not long after, the family of John Beeman also settled nearby. In 1843 John Neely Bryan married Margaret Beeman, and their one-room log cabin is said to have been the first dwelling in Dallas.

Jonathan Blair Billingsley, whose family contingent passed through the village in 1844, on their way to settle in what later became Ellis County, noted in his journal, "We soon reached the place we had heard of so often, but the town, where was it? Two small log cabins -- this was the town of Dallas, and two families of ten or twelve souls was its population."

In 1845 the western-most Republic of Texas postal route ran from Franklin, via Alta Springs, Parker's Point, Melton's, and Chambers' Creek to Dallas. Another route ran from Dallas to Bonham, via McGarrah's. In 1849, when Fort Worth was established, Dallas was still the nearest post office.

The first legislature of the new state of Texas created Dallas County on 30 March 1846, from parts of Robertson (that part west of the main Trinity) and Nacogdoches (that part east of the main river) counties and designated Dallas as the temporary seat of justice. Two elections were held in 1850 to fix the permanent county seat. Dallas won over Hord's Ridge (Oak Cliff) and Cedar Springs. In 1851 the Dallas Herald reported an urban population of 163, including 37 negroes. By 1871 the one-half mile square town had expanded to one and one-half miles square and Dallas was incorporated as a city.

The original of the plat of Dallas (shown here) is in such poor condition that reproduction is very bad. A negative copy is more legible than a positive copy. The plat was likely drawn around 1850 and may have been compiled by Felix G. Eakins who is shown on the 1850 census as a surveyor.

Among those living in the Dallas area in 1850 were: John Beeman, James M. Patterson (merchant), Thomas Crutchfield (inn keeper), John J. Eakins (lawyer), Felix G. Eakins (surveyor), J. W. Latimer (editor and lawyer), Lucy Latimer (school teacher), John N. Bryan (lawyer, worth $10,000.), Adam C. Haught (ferryman), Heustice Brooks (printer), John C. McCoy [who was also a lawyer], Perry Dakan (physician), Nat Burford (lawyer), John W. Smith (merchant), James B. Bryan (dentist), Anton Kuhn (blacksmith), and John Scurlock (chairmaker). The town had more than the usual number of lawyers and was the seedbed from which sprang much discontent and litigation with Peters Colony agents.

WACO VILLAGE

The county of McLennan was created by an act of the Texas Legislature approved 22 January 1850. Organized in August, with Waco Village as the county seat, the county was not enumerated (as a separate county) on the 1850 census. Its residents will be found within the enumerations of the counties of Milam (on the west side of the Brazos River) and Limestone (on the east side of the river).

McLennan county was originally occupied by the Waco Indians, whose principal village was located near Waco Springs, site of present Waco. As early as 1837, a ranger company established a temporary camp called Fort Fisher. By 1840, surveyors, including George Barnard Erath, had begun surveying in the area.

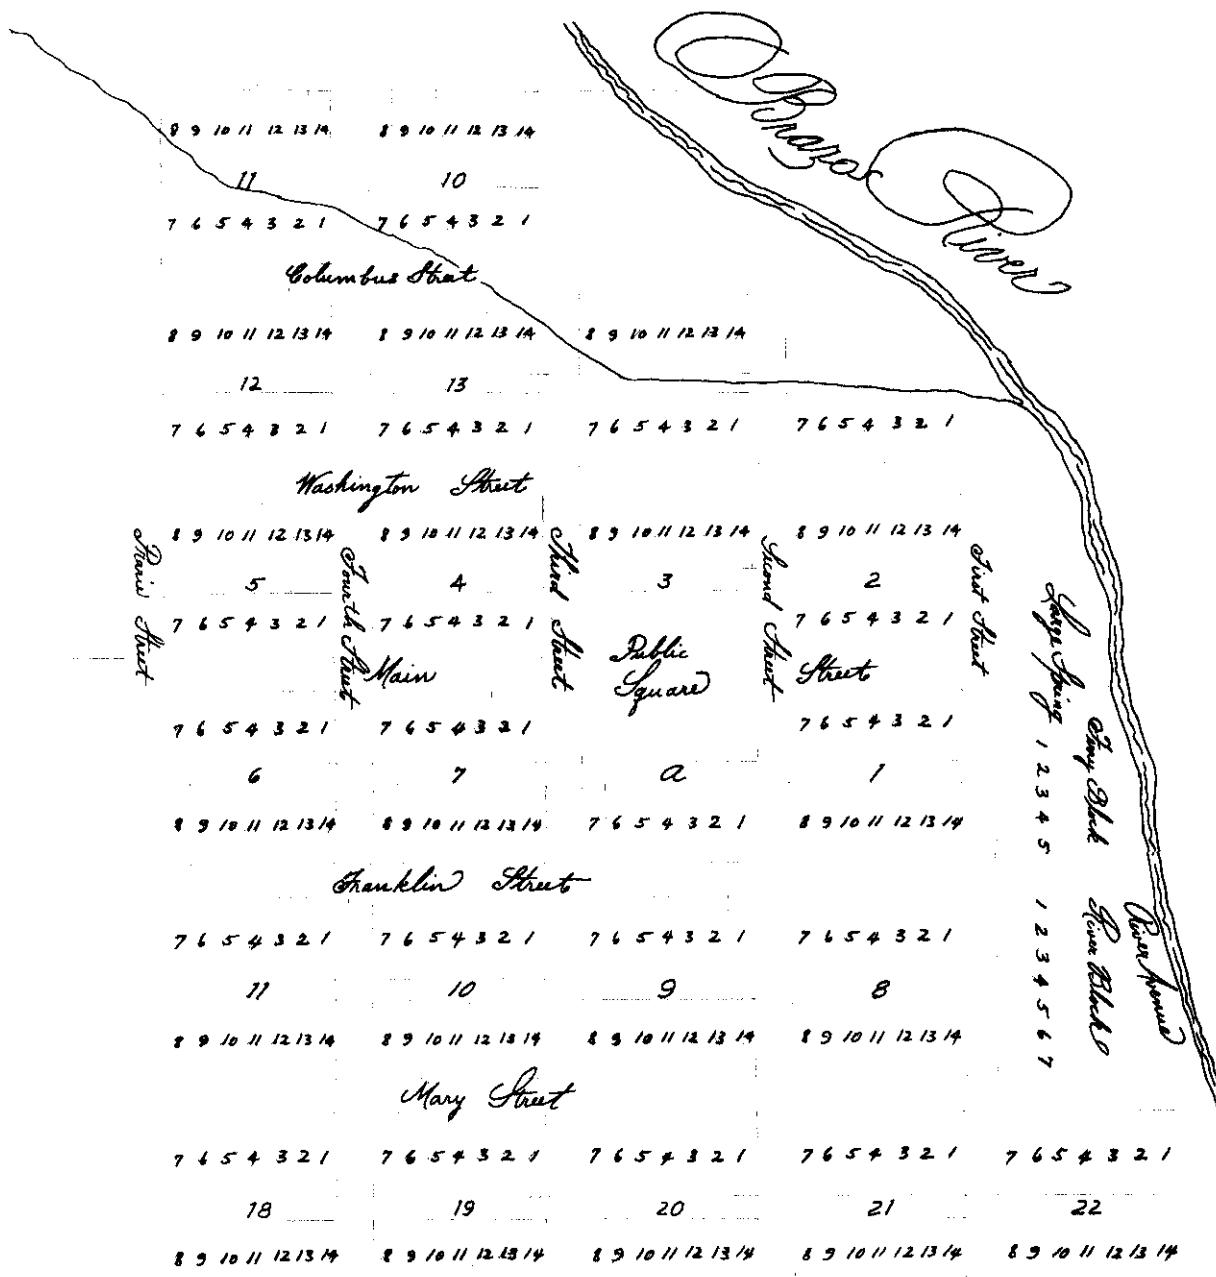

In the Spring of 1843 the Torrey brothers, Indian traders, established a trading post on Tehuacana Creek (east of the Brazos River), with George Barnard in charge. Leonard H. Williams was the Indian Agent at Tehuacana. Jesse Sutton was hired as a blacksmith for the Indians. He established a residence within the present east Waco area, in late 1845 or early 1846. By 1850 he was enumerated on the 1850 census of Navarro County and, by 1854, was serving as a smithy on the Brazos Indian Reserve, in present Young County. In 1845 Neil McLennan settled a few miles from present Waco. About 1849 Shapley P. Ross opened a ferry across the Brazos, between Waco Village and Sutton's. In 1849, George B. Erath laid off the embryo of what became Waco Village, probably the Ferry Block, the River Block, and perhaps Block Number One, dividing them into numbered lots. The earliest settlers chose "Lamartine" as the name of the new town, but Erath persuaded them to call it "Waco Village." The location was chosen, in 1850, for the county seat of McLennan County, Waco Village later being shortened to Waco.

Waco Village, the county seat, was surveyed, on the west side of the Brazos, about 1851, possibly by George B. Erath. The east-west streets ran in a southeasterly direction from the river and were named Columbus, Washington, Main, Franklin, and Mary Streets. Main Street ran from the spring, near the river, to the Public Square, then took-up again on the other side of the square. The north-south streets were River Avenue, Front, Second, Third, Fourth, and Prairie Streets. Southeast of the spring was the Ferry Block, and below that the River Block. On the north side of the square, a half-block was numbered "3." Another half-block, on the south side of the square, was numbered "A." Block numbers were 1 through 22. The Public Square was between Second and Third Streets, below Washington and above Franklin Streets, and was intersected on each side by Main Street. The lots of half-block "A" were numbered 1 through 7, and those of half-block "3" from 8 through 14. Upon these half-blocks were probably located the chief businesses of the town.

PRESTON

The site of Preston, on the Red River in Grayson County, is now covered by Lake Texoma. It was one of the gateways to Texas for settlers coming from the northeast. Many Peters Colonists entered Texas by crossing Red River at Preston Bend and stopping first at the minute village in the bend. The town had its beginnings with the establishment of one of Holland Coffee's trading houses on Red River in 1837, and later became the site of Coffee's historic two-story mansion, Glen Eden.

In 1840 Colonel William G. Cooke and a company of men were assigned to lay out that portion of the Military Road from the Brazos to Red River. From Waco Village they went northeast, crossing the Trinity at Porter's Bluff (in later Navarro County) and angling slightly northwest towards Red River. They established a post known as Fort Johnson and a supply base called Fort Preston. Some writers have given the impression that this road was a thoroughfare in the early 1840's, but it was little more than an often difficult-to-find trail. Though the Republic of Texas Congress appropriated $25,000 in paper money for the construction of the road, the project failed. It was not until around 1850, after the creation and organization of the various counties on the western fringe, above the Brazos, that the road became a main road of travel.

Petition of James H. Hughes, admr, by E. Hovenkamp, his atty., to sell three town lots in the town of Birdville, and also a house and 3/4 acres land upon which it stands, said property being in the vicinity or adjoining the said town of Birdville. He states that the estate is indebted and that the widow has never been provided for. June term, 1857. Filed July 1, 1857.

Bill of sale on the property sold September 1, 1857. A 2 2/3 acre lot adjoining the town of Birdville on the east was sold to D. C. Lane. Lot No. 1 in Block No. 18 of said Town Plat was sold to A. D. Johnson; Lot No. 1 in Block No. 19 was sold to J. C. Holeman. Filed 28 Sept. 1857.

Petition of Mary D. Woodward, a resident of Ellis County, complaining that James H. Hughes, admr and resident of Tarrant County [has done] great wrongs and injuries to wit, first, the inventory is not complete, for on the 1 day of January 1856 or about that time said James H. Hughes became indebted to your petitioner's husband ... in sum of twenty five hundred dollars for which he gave his promissory note described in copy below as follows .... On or before the first day of July next I promise to pay T. D. Woodward ... twenty five hundred dollars.... Dated January 19, 1856, and signed by J. H. Hughes. The note has never been paid ... should have been included in the inventory.... Petitioner further complains that no property has been set apart exempt from sale for her benefit ... such as her homestead.... She further represents that the bond of Jas. H. Hughes as admr is insufficient as one of the securities, to wit, J. T. Andrews, has moved out of the State of Texas. Filed 9 April 1859.

27 June 1859. Mary D. Woodward, by her attorneys, Fearris and Bradshaw, excepts to the report filed May 30, 1859, by admr. for final settlement. The "same is so ragin [?] and informal that this court cannot nor will not take further cognizance therefor...." She prays judgment of the court that admr be required to restate his account. And for special exceptions ... said administrator in accounting to the estate for a note of twenty five hundred dollars against J. H. Hughes had not accounted for any interest.

On same day Mary D. Woodward, widow of T. D. Woodward, deceased, represents that notice was given to the administrator that the order made at last term for a pro rata payment to the creditors would be contested and not to pay out money on said order. She now moves the court to set aside the order, as the court has not set apart for the widow and her child the property exempt from forced sale....

Application of Mary D. Woodward, by J. W. Ferris, Atty, for private payment. She states that no allowance has been made under the statute to her and her child Alice in lieu of property exempt from forced sale.... She claims $750. At the last term of court it appeared that there was a large amount of money on hand to be paid out. An order was made by the court for all of the funds on hand to be paid out to the creditors making 70 1/2 cts on the dollar.... Under said order no money was paid out by said administrator until after notice given him that application would be made to change or set aside the order.... He has paid no money since said order on the claim of Rice & Co.... He has made payments to or in other words credited claims of his own.... Petitioner represents that said order was made for payment of an amount too large by $750 and she moves the court that the same be set aside and an order be made to prorate payment after allowing her said homestead allowance. Filed 28 June 1859. [In a somewhat briefer paper filed June 27, Mary's attorneys state that she has not resided in this county (Tarrant) since the death of her husband.]

Exception of Mary D. Woodward to the report filed 28 June 1859. 1st, to interest at 8% for three years due on the note of said Hughes; 2nd, said Hughes charges 5% commission on his own note [for collecting it]. She prays that his commission be reduced to the 5% in cash which he actually received and paid out. Filed 28 June 1859.

Answer of J. H. Hughes to application of Mary Woodward to have the property of estate exempt from forced sale set apart to her use. He states that more than two years have elapsed since the Inventory, and pleads the statute of limitations of two years. S/ Lewelling for Hughes. Filed 28 June 1859.

Appeal bonds of Mary D. Woodward to District Court [three in number]. Securities: J. W. Ferris, William Moseley, and Joshua Hanly.

District Court. Summer Term. June 26, 1870. It was ordered that (1) the order of the county court ... for pro rata payment of creditors be set aside. Admr was ordered to proceed to make prorata payments to creditors of all funds and assets on hand after paying to Mary D. Woodward her homestead allowance; (2) that order of county court refusing to make the homestead allowance be set aside, and that the sum of $750 be set apart and allowed in lieu of the homestead and property exempt from forced sale; (3) that the order of the county court made at the June term 1859 refusing to correct the account of administrator for final settlement be set aside and that said administrator be required to restate said account allowing in trust on the note due from him to said estate from its maturity to the time that he reported the same as cash on hand. [James H. Hughes did not appear in court.] Filed 11 August 1860.

Petition of Mary D. Woodward who is the widowed wife of T. D. Woodward Deceased comes by Atty and complains of James H. Hughes who is the admr ... and saiings that the Honorable District Court of Tarrant County at its June Term 1860 ordered that the sum of seven hundred and fifty dollars be set aside in lieu of the Home Stead and property exempt from execution ... says that the said James H. Hughes is not a resident citizen of this State and asks the Court to remove the said Hughes from the administration ... without notice and this Plaintiff have execution against the same Hughes for ... seven hundred and fifty dollars for the use of her the said Mary D. and her child Alice....

Digest of Cases to Alabama Supreme Court, Book 14, page 62.
 Jan. Term 1846. Bissell and Carville vs Lindsay et al.
 Appeal from a decretal order of the Court of Chancery for the 19th District.

In 1814 at Charleston, South Carolina, Thomas Bennett the elder made his will whereby he devised a lot of land, situated in Charleston, and bequeathed two slaves as well as $3000 in money to Thomas Bennett, the younger, in trust, to go for support of testator's son John S. Bennett and his wife jointly during their lives; after the death of either, to the survivor in the same manner; and upon the death of survivor to the children of John S. Bennett and his then present wife. But should there be no children surviving, then to revert to the rightful heirs of testator. Will was admitted to probate in South Carolina and trust assumed by Thomas Bennett the younger who continued to act until the year 1834, during which year he resigned the trust, and the complainants being then substituted. Sometime in 1834, John S. Bennett being about to remove with his family to this state, applied to Bennett, the trustee, for heirs [?] to invest funds so bequeathed in slaves.

The first wife of John S. Bennett died in 1817, leaving two children surviving, who are now respectively the wives of complainants, and he afterwards married another, who was living when the bill was filed. Had a plantation in Dallas Co., Ala. Deed in Dallas Co., Ala., from John S. Bennett for natural love and affection he bears his children, being nine in number. The trustee declared [the plantation] is for use of grantor and wife during their joint lives ... in conformity with the will of their grandfather, Thomas Bennett. The first deed is dated 23 March 1836. Another deed by John S. Bennett to complainants is dated 19 October 1839.

BIBLIOPRINTS

News from the Library

By Patricia Chadwell

The Fort Worth City Council passed the 1975-76 budget with no provision for funds for Sunday service, so the library will no longer be open on Sunday afternoons. Since the Southwest and Genealogy Department was one of the busiest on Sundays, we know this will work a hardship on many of you. Since it was necessary for the past two years to staff the library mainly with clerical personnel on Sundays, service hasn't always been what the professional staff could be proud of--but the materials were accessible. We deeply regret that they no longer will be.

Unfortunately, the budget includes no new operating funds for the department, although we are getting some new microfilm cabinets.

Next time you are in the department you might want to take a look at our new mascots, George and Martha. This funny pair (named for Edward Albee's characters in Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf, not the General and his Lady) are a spectacle in Bicentennial red and blue. They are Bettas (Siamese Fighting Fish).

Three of the books purchased with funds donated in memory of Dr. Claude Irvine by his wife have arrived. They are: 1850 Census of Tennessee, Vol. 4, by Byron Sistler; The Irvines and Their Kin, by L. Boyd; and Index for Old Kentucky Surveys and Grants, published by the Kentucky Historical Society. The History of Roane County, Tennessee, 1801-1870, by Emma Middleton Wells, has been ordered to complete the memorial. The Fort Worth Genealogical Society's memorial book for Dr. Irvine, Time Was in Mineral Wells by A. F. Weaver, has also been recently received and put into processing.

Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Orrick, not only donated several volumes of their quarterlies to the Fort Worth Library, but as they have a most interesting hobby of bookbinding, they bound them in lovely hardback covers. These are most welcome additions to our genealogical collection as well as being more permanent.

With the money furnished for the Abby Moran Memorial we purchased eleven volumes of the Publications of the Connecticut Historical Society. These books have been received and are now on our shelves.

Would anyone be willing to contribute Volume 10, No. 2, and Volume 17, No. 2 issue of the Dallas Local History and Genealogical Quarterly in order to complete volumes for binding. We are missing these two issues.

THE PRESIDENT'S PAGE

Please note on the officers and directors page that we have some new members in these categories. Our plans for programs, services, and projects continue to look exceptionally good for 1975. If you can serve on a committee or a project, or help with a service, please contact one of the officers or directors listed. We need your help.

With a great deal of regret, we accepted the resignation of our Editor, Mrs. Stanley C. Smith. Mildred has returned to her profession as a registered nurse and we are all going to miss working with her on Footprints. For several years she has provided a high standard of quality and content in our publication and the society is indebted to Mildred for her dedication and devotion to this work. I am sure that all of you join me in a sincere expression of thanks for all her efforts to bring us such an outstanding quarterly.

The November 1974 issue of Footprints carried a "budget flyer" from the budget committee. Some of you have not read this and it is very important that you do so. We are still receiving dues in the amount of $5.00. This is not the correct amount. Dues are now $7 for regular and $10 for sustaining memberships. We cannot operate on the approved budget unless we have the funds to do so. Thanks to those of you who are sending in the other $2 to make up the difference. Also thanks to those of you who are sustaining members. You are making a big contribution towards the budget allocations and this is very much appreciated.

We will be forced to spend extra money on postage and paper to bill some of the members for the difference in funds, please help us to avoid having to do so by sending in your balance.

Our society has recently lost two valued members, Mrs. Abby Moran and Dr. Claude Irvine. A memorial book has been ordered for placement in the Fort Worth Library in honor of Dr. Irvine. A memorial fund for Mrs. Moran has been established and contributions may be sent to FWGS at the post office box.

In January Mr. John L. Lewis passed away. John was a charter member of FWGS and will be missed by many "genealogy friends."

Mr. C. George Younkin of the Federal Records Center in Ft. Worth, advised that a number of 1900 censuses had been received but in very poor quality and could not be used. These are to be replaced and hopefully by July.

A reminder that the April 1975 workshop will be held at the Ramada Inn Central. Dr. Milton Rubicam will lecture on "Middle Atlantic States." Preregistration for $10.00 includes luncheon.

Happy hunting in 1975,

Nelita Snow

IN MEMORIAM

ABBY DUGGAN MORAN
1903-1974

* Abby Duggan Moran, former Head of the Southwest and Genealogy Dept., Fort Worth Public Library, and well-known genealogist, died on November 23, 1974.

* We think it only fair to say that Abby Moran's contribution to* * genealogy in this part of the world has been equaled by few*
* and exceeded by none. In making this statement, we think of* * Abby primarily as a teacher. While her contribution to the* * development of the genealogical collection at the Ft. Worth*
* Public Library, the impeccable research she did on her fam* ilies and for others, and her activities in the development*
* of area genealogical societies were worthy accomplishments,*
* she will live on in the memories of thousands of people she*
* introduced to genealogy. This we think is most important.

* She taught formally structured classes, she taught in her contacts with the public as a librarian, and after retirement, in her informal encounters with anyone interested in the subject.*

* She was indefatigable in the pursuit of excellence in any *
* field in which she became interested, notably so in genealogy, *
* librarianship and archives. She was one of the moving spirits *
* in the development of organizations for the promotion of these * * areas. *

* Abby Moran will be sorely missed by those who knew her, * genealogist or not.

DR. CLAUDE W. IRVINE, SR.
1906-1974

* Dr. C. W. Irvine, prominent Mineral Wells citizen and well known Shriner, passed away suddenly September 28, 1974, after suffering a heart attack. *

* Since retiring from active practice in 1968 he had devoted * much time to the Shrine, and Shrine oriented projects, the * Shriners' Crippled Children's Hospital, work in his church,
* the school board and many other worthwhile community activ* ities too numerous to mention here.

* He was a member of the Historical Survey Committee of Palo * Pinto County and the County Historical Association. At the * time of his death he was supervising the restoration of the * old county jail in Palo Pinto and converting it into a museum.*

* He was a loyal member of the Fort Worth Genealogical Society, *
* to which he gave many hours of his time. He will be missed. *

PRESIDENT'S PAGE

A new service is beginning! Miss Frances Allen will be in charge of the HOME LIBRARY SERVICE. Have you ever wondered about the wealth of information in someone's personal library not available in the public libraries? Do you have a family manuscript published, unpublished, or out of print? An index, county history or other genealogical reference which you would be willing to check for another researcher? We are NOT asking you to lend your books, just check a reference. You may participate by doing the following: Make a 3 x 5 card for each book or reference you are willing to place in our file. Put title and author of book and make certain your name, address, and telephone number are on EACH card.

Mail your cards to the box number or bring them to the April 28th meeting for Miss Allen. This will be an excellent source of locating material which might not otherwise be available. Out of town members may also submit cards but please accompany your requests with a self addressed, stamped envelope. At a later date these holdings can be printed and mailed to participating members so that each will have an index for reference.

CONGRATULATIONS TO:

Troop 104, Boy Scouts of America, Scoutmaster R. E. Wilson and Asst. Scoutmaster J. A. Townsend. These boys are hard at work on their Genealogy Merit Badge. Good hunting, Scouts!

Jean Hazelwood, who has received approval from the Board of Certification in Washington, D.C. Jean has worked very hard for the past six months to become a Certified Genealogist and is only one of a dozen or so in our State.

Mrs. Althea Farrell for her determination to clean up and preserve the Mt. Gilead Cemetery near Keller. We will be interested to learn if in the process of uncovering the old headstones she finds her grandfather's among them.

Mr. C. George Younkin upon his retirement as Archivist of the Federal Records Center. We shall miss his advice and help at the Center, but wish him the very best time in retirement. Besides teaching a course at TCU, traveling and gardening, he may find time to pay us a visit soon.

Dallas Local History and Genealogy Society will hold their annual workshop May 24, 1975, at the Statler Hilton Hotel from 8:30 to 5:00 with Mr. Bill Linder of the National Archives, Washington, D.C. the featured lecturer. $12.00 preregistration by May 15, $15.00 after that date.

Melita Snow

FOR YOUR INFORMATION . . .

The Fort Worth Genealogical Society has made a card index to all of the Texas cemeteries that have been published in hard back books or quarterly publications that are in the Fort Worth Library. Mrs. Mattie Blain has spent many hours indexing these cemeteries. Since many of these publications are found in other libraries, it is possible that we could help someone looking for a certain cemetery in Texas. We do NOT have a list of persons buried in the cemetery but if you will send a self addressed, stamped envelope to our society we will tell you if a cemetery has been listed and printed, in what publication and the page number. If your library does not have a copy of the book, maybe you could prevail upon someone to make a copy and forward it to you.

***

The Ark-La-Tex Genealogical Association announces their ninth annual workshop on Saturday, August 9, 1975. It will be held in the Holiday Inn, Downtown Shreveport-Bossier City, Louisiana. The guest speaker will be Mr. Bill R. Linder, Director of the Central Reference Division of the National Archives and Director of National Institutes on Genealogical Research in Washington, D.C. See their April "Genie" for further details.

***

Would you like to help your society but not sure how? Please call or write, there are many, many ways you can help. Copy old courthouse records, cemeteries, Bible records, newspapers, type, index, serve as host or hostess, help one day a week or month at the library. If nothing else, get a new member. All help would be appreciated.

***

Did you know that in early colonial times the term mother-in-law sometimes meant step-mother?

We do need Bible Records. If you have one, or know of someone else that does, please try to get a copy for us. However, if you do, please remember this. Get a copy of the flyleaf which tells date and publisher of the Bible providing it is still there. Next copy records as they are, do not correct spelling or put in punctuation marks. Do not add remarks. If you feel that an explanation is needed, do so at the bottom of the page or on a separate sheet. A copy of these records will be placed in our library as well as held in reserve for printing in our quarterly when time and space permit.

Of great interest to all genealogists is the recent opening of the 1900 Federal Census of the United States. July 1, 1975 was the first day this census was available and I spent a tremendous afternoon at the Federal Records Center. This facility has Alabama through Kansas complete. As the rest of the census comes in, a few rolls at a time, it will be made available to you.

Please call or write for an appointment. The telephone number is 334-5515, hours from 8:00 AM to 4:00 PM Monday through Friday. Mr. Kent Carter is the new Chief of the Archives Branch. He and his staff will make you welcome and do all they can to assist you. There is a special form to be filled out, and you must read the Rules for Use of 1900 Census. Also, there is a pamphlet titled "Regulations for the Public Use of Records in the National Archives and Records Service." You are to have one of these in your possession when using the Federal Record Center facility and the pamphlet may be obtained through the mail or in person from the center.

Volume I of the Chronicles of Old Navarro District will go to press sometime in 1976. We are very happy to announce that the Bi-Centennial Committee of Fort Worth has recently approved our project as worthy of recognition.

Of interest to many will be the course titled "Intermediate Genealogy" which the society is planning. The North East Campus of Tarrant County Junior College will sponsor this under their Continuing Adult Education Program. Beginning September 16th and ending November 11th, 1975, at a cost of $20 per registration, a different lecturer will present a different topic each week. Mr. Weldon Hudson is the coordinator of this course.

By the time this issue reaches you, most of you will have had your annual fling in court houses, cemeteries and libraries. The one thing you must not give up is when people say "I don't know anything about the family." It is not always true. They do know something, but what they are really telling you is they do not know what YOU WANT TO KNOW. After some visiting and perhaps taking a couple of snapshots, you can begin to ask a leading question or two ... then listen! Take Notes. Use a tape recorder.

Always ask if the person has any old letters, diaries or pictures you could see, or if they know of anyone else who might have something. I was fortunate to ask the right question and it turned out there was a photograph of great-grandpa in the box on the lady's coffee table right in front of me. Such excitement. On the same trip we located a photograph of my husband's third great-grandmother Holt and visited the cemetery where second Great-grandpa Holt is buried out in the Ozarks. All this from just a few timely questions.

The society plans projects and programs months ahead. Work has already started on next year's workshop, and the "Footprints" staff is working ahead all the time. Thanks, Staff!

FOR YOUR INFORMATION.....

Have you hit a snag in your researching? Are you really using all of the aids that are available to you--some at no cost?

All libraries that have a genealogical section have a surname index mostly 3 x 5 where all researchers may complete cards on the lines on which they are working. Always check these files, fill out cards with your own problem lines and leave at the library. Many good contacts have been made this way.

If you belong to one, or several, genealogical societies, make use of their surname file as well as their query section in their periodicals.

Many, many newspapers throughout the United States carry free genealogical columns. This is another aid free for the price of one stamp. Through this medium you may contact a relative or friend who is not necessarily a genealogist but knows about the family.

Some societies such as the Ft. Worth Genealogical Society have a free hour before each meeting to help anyone, beginner or advanced, in any way that they can. Make use of this service.

Did you know that for as little as 25¢ for one-half scale or $1.00 for full scale, you can obtain a county map from the Highway Department. These maps are NOT auto travel maps, but show every county road, church, cemetery, creek or other landmarks in the county in which you are interested. These are a must for anyone seeking a cemetery or other special place as a river or creek, etc. Service from the Texas State Highway Department is most prompt, almost by return mail.

There is a column in the Genealogical Helper which offers free help wherein many subscribers offer to search their copies of rare books, certain cemeteries, even some courthouses for you for just a self-addressed stamped envelope. Many unexpected leads have been found through this column.

Are you writing letters correctly? Are you enclosing a SASE (self-addressed, stamped envelope)? Are you writing too much? Too little? At least one date and place? Do you have a workable filing system?

Do you 'belong' to a society, or just pay dues? Have you helped at the library? In so doing you make wonderful friends as well as good contacts. It is surprising where you find new clues. A neighbor, not a genealogist, living across the street for years was discovered to have the family Bible in the attic.

For help in any area--all you need to do is ask!

Your Editor

Do you have a helpful hint for others?
