WAR DEPARTMENT PAMPHLET No. 20-10

WAR DEPARTMENT
Washington 25, D. C., 15 March 1944

War Department Pamphlet No. 20-10 is published for the information and guidance of all concerned.

[A. G. 461 (25 Apr 44).]

By order of the Secretary of War:

G. C. MARSHALL,
Chief of Staff.

Official:

J. A. ULIO,
Major General,
The Adjutant General.

WELCOME HOME!

- ★ You're returning to the greatest country in the world from the greatest experience of a lifetime in the greatest of all wars.
- ★ Everybody at home is going to make a fuss over you. They'll give you a big welcome. They'll ask you endless questions.
- ★ It's only natural that you'll want to tell them all about it.

BUT when you talk remember this:

Hearsay information originating from returned soldiers is one of the most important sources of information to the enemy.

- ★ You probably have the feeling you've left the enemy far behind you. You haven't. Naturally, he's doing his best to operate in America.

The Army isn't so much worried about your shooting your mouth off to strangers. You've been around and know better.

The Army is concerned about your friends, neighbors, family, and even local newspapers, innocently spreading things that you might tell them.

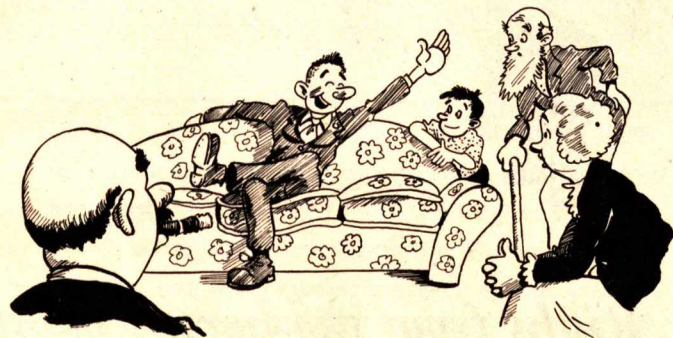

Whisper sweet nothings

...ONLY!

★ If you've got a wife or sweetheart waiting for you—what an audience she'll make! She'll listen starry eyed to everything you tell her. You'll be her hero whether you like it or not. If you're human, you'll like it—too much.

Go ahead and trust her with your plans for raising a family, but, not with plans for military operations that you know about or just guess about.

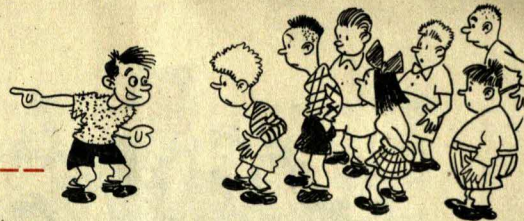

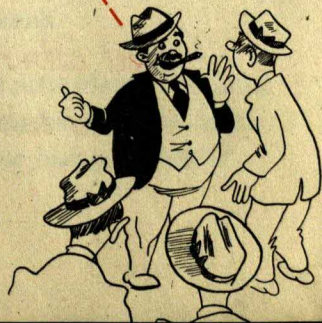

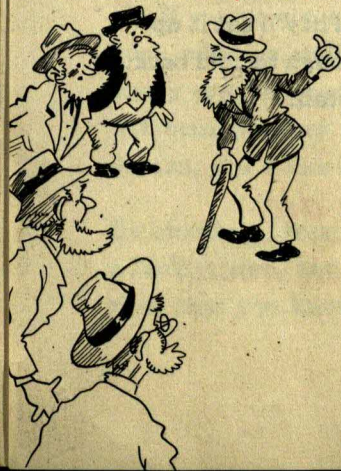

★ How your folks' eyes will bug out if you tell them everything you've seen! They'll eat it up—they'll love it. It's going to be tough to hold back. They're dying to know every detail.

*But others may die
if you tell all you know!*

Right from the horse's mouth

★ Home folks don't seem to understand that the seemingly unimportant facts you might give them about Where you've been, What you've seen and Who you've met, pieced together by the enemy, can give him the WHAT? WHERE? and WHO? of military operations, the things that constitute Battle Order information. If the enemy can find out, from hearsay, where our forces are, how they're equipped and who commands them—he has a mighty good chance of guessing our military plans.

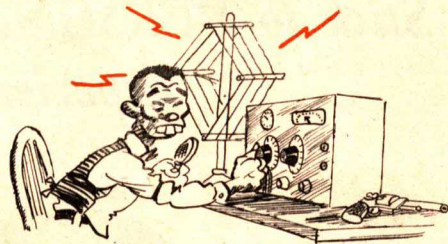

★ If you're a hero the big newspapers and radio networks will want your story. But even if you're just an average G. I. the hometown papers will probably be after you—every soldier returning from overseas has a story to tell. In all such stories there are interesting facts the enemy would like to know. No soldier will knowingly reveal information which risks the lives of his comrades—no American newspaper will knowingly print it.

But often enough to cause serious concern, such facts are revealed through carelessness.

It's going to be hard to resist that natural urge to impress your hometown folks by getting a big splash in print. But if what you say violates Army Regulations or any of the points outlined in this booklet, don't say it. Not even off the record—there's no "off the record" in war.

24 HOUR SERVICE

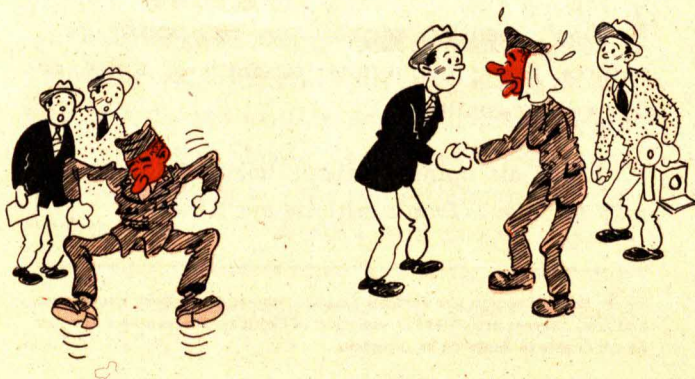

News published in U. S. newspapers has reached enemy countries within 24 hours. Don't talk to the press at all unless a Public Relations Officer has cleared your story. Whatever becomes printed cannot be unsaid.

Stick to PERSONAL experiences

★ If you limit your conversation to human interest, first hand, eye witness accounts of your own experiences, you'll probably be on the safe side. Just don't get specific unless the Public Relations Officer says you can. It's also OK to give general descriptions of the countries you've been in, and discuss the habits and customs of the natives there.

Opinions and predictions are OUT!

- ★ Don't identify your unit without first getting permission from a Public Relations Officer.
- ★ Don't mention specific places where you've been stationed. Use authorized generalizations like New Guinea, Italy, Northern Ireland, etc.
- ★ Don't mention secret arms, equipment, procedures, flying techniques, strength of units, or figures on casualties.
- ★ Don't air opinions about fellow soldiers you may not like. Don't criticize our Allies.

P.S. So long as you are a soldier you are subject to military procedures and law. Severe penalties for violation of Security Regulations are just as applicable in America as Overseas.

- ★ Few persons in this war are in such a position that they are qualified to make overall judgments. Decisions and criticisms of strategy or broad military operations should be left to those authorized to speak about them. Complaints about equipment or training are not subjects for public discussion—there are effective and proper ways to make suggestions within the Army. Do not voice opinions on politics or any issue of civilian controversy.

MUM'S THE WORD on escapes and evasions

★ If you have been captured by the enemy and have escaped, don't give details of your escape. The method you used may be helpful to others, if the enemy doesn't know too much about it. The same thing goes for any story that you might know about evasion of capture in enemy territory; the people who helped you can still help others.

Your PRO is your pal...*

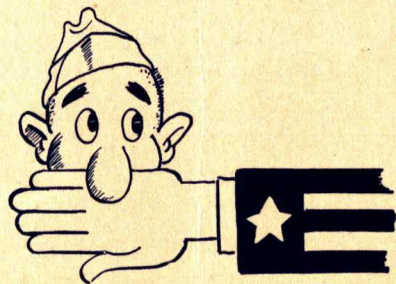

Remember—don't give any interview or publish anything or make any public appearance without first checking with the nearest PRO and "getting clearance." That's an Army regulation. You can get in plenty trouble by forgetting it. The fact is, of course, that the PRO is your pal. His job is to advise you and to keep you out of trouble.

The public at home plays a great part in the war effort. They supply the money for war, the materials of war, and countless services that enable the Army to carry on. They are sharing this war with you, and the Army believes these folks have a right to be as fully informed as possible.

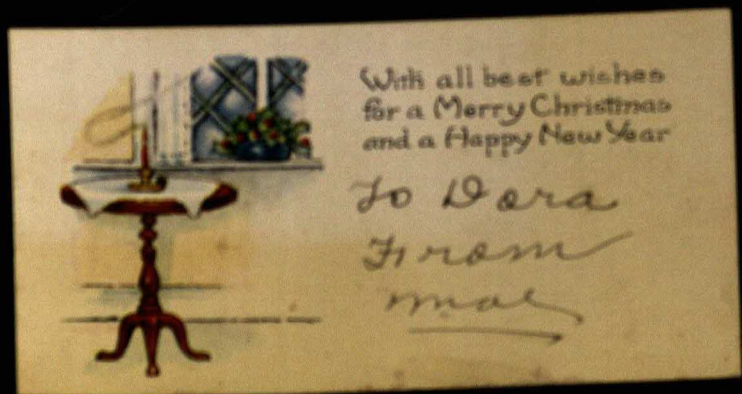

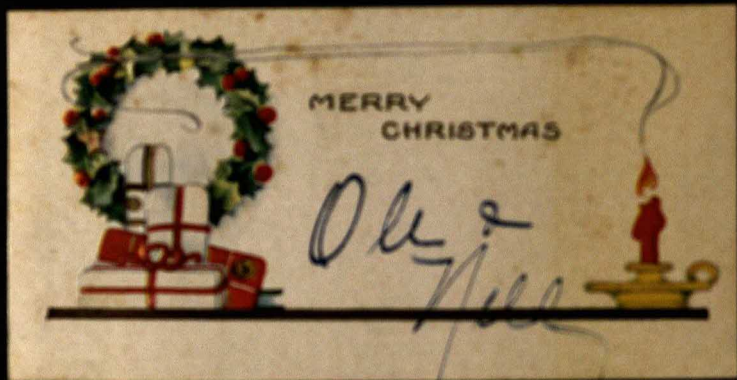

But no American would want to know anything, however small, that would be dangerous to know. Even if he could evaluate its danger he would prefer not to carry in his mind a potential weapon against the soldier overseas.

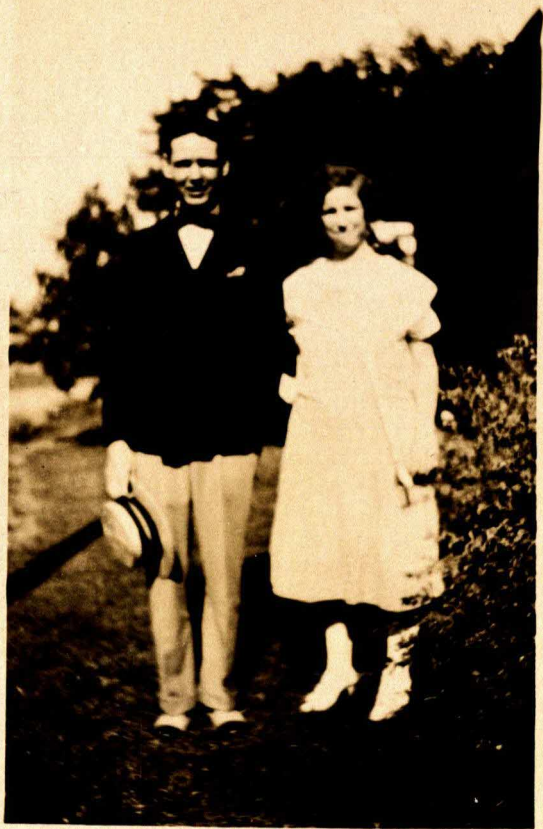

Silence means Security

Show this booklet to anyone who asks too many questions. It may help to explain why you cannot answer them all.

Merry Xmas!

Church Built For $200,000 To Open Today

A church which survived a disaster of sufficient consequence to bring a less hardy institution to its knees will formally open a new $200,000 building Sunday.

The occasion also will fall on the annual Homecoming Day of Matthews Memorial Methodist Church which had its beginning with the organization of a Sunday School in April of 1912.

Rev. Alonzo Monk Jr. was the guiding hand behind the newly-formed Sunday School, but during the summer of 1912, another minister, Rev. H. M. Ratliff, actually organized the church after holding a revival in the community.

20 Charter Members.

The church was named Hemphill Heights Mission and was organized with 20 charter members. Two are still members of the church today, Mrs. Louin Berry and Mrs. J. R. Francisco.

At the annual Methodist Conference in the fall of 1912, Rev. W. S. P. McCullough was named minister.

The church grew rapidly from 1914 to 1916 under the pastorate of Rev. Roy A. Langston and saw the breaking of ground for the permanent home of the Hemphill Heights Methodist Church and construction of the first unit during the ministry of Rev. T. Edgar Neal who succeeded Rev. Mr. Langston.

Three years later, with Rev. R. O. Sory pastor, the church building was completed.

Expansion Period.

The next decade was a period of expansion under the leadership of three pastors, Revs. John A. Sicheloff, Phil E. Chappell and E. H. Lightfoot.

By 1932, the church was one of the strong appointments of the Central Texas Conference. It was then that disaster struck.

A defect in the foundation of the building caused it to be condemned, and the structure had to be written off as a total loss.

Rev. Claude P. Jones was serving his first year as pastor, and through his efforts and the courage of the membership services were continued in an old warehouse in the neighborhood.

Campaign Started.

In 1935, Rev. Mr. Jones opened a campaign to obtain a new location. That fall, Rev. Frank L. Turner became pastor and plans were made for the erection of a new church.

Bishop H. A. Boaz became interested in the project and the family of the late Rev. W. H. Matthews, who had been one of the leaders in Central Texas Methodism for many years, came to the aid of the church.

In appreciation, the church was named in his memory—Matthews Memorial Methodist Church. The building was completed and the interior furnished in 1938, when Rev. E. R. Stanford was appointed minister.

Rev. Thomas Sterck has been pastor since 1940.

DREAM REALIZED—The new $200,000 Matthews Memorial Methodist Church will be formally opened Sunday at 10:50 a. m., with a former pastor, Rev. T. Edgar Neal of Amarillo, preaching the sermon.

Spence Is 'Obnoxious' to Corbin

'Senatorial Courtesy' Still Blocks One of Jester's First Appointments

BY SAM KINCH.

Austin Staff Correspondent.

AUSTIN, April 23. — The so-called "senatorial courtesy" still blocks one of Governor Jester's first appointments—three months after submission.

The appointment is that of Eugene V. Spence, chairman of the Board of Water Engineers, who reportedly can muster well over a majority in the secret confirmation sessions of the Senate but can't get the two-thirds vote necessary to overcome his home senator's tag of "personally obnoxious."

Senator Corbin, of whose 24-county district Spence's legal residence is Big Spring, contends that Spence's views on ownership of ground water which is subject to the best interests of irrigation-farming in the district.

Spence denies having advanced any theories of his own and has letters and endorsements from many of the big West Texas Panhandle.

And there the matter stands. Spence is the appointee of the big West Texas law stipulating that a member of the water board must come from each senatorial district, and Spence stood the other four districts in favor of his confirmation.

Custom Defended

But other senators neither for nor against are lining up with Corbin in opposing the custom to permit a senator veto power on appointments. Most of them are looking to the future when they want to invoke the rule.

Spence is a former city manager of Big Spring (for 10 years); former mayor of San Angelo (for three years); former mayor of Alice (for two years); former county engineer of Jim Wells County, and Army engineering officer during the world wars.

He first was appointed to the water board in July 1947. A professional engineer, he was state recommended for the job and former Governor M. D. Tammenson induced him to accept the commission as a condition of and take the oath of office.

Governor Jester appointed Spence in September 1948. Corbin resigned his office, and Spence now belongs to the Senate.

He has been a leader in the survey of Texas water resources, and was the moving spirit behind Jester's series of district meetings on the subject.

Board's Report.

Part of the opposition stems from a report of the state board in which it was related that underground water flows in such a fashion to surface water as to water beneath a piece of land does not necessarily flow to that land.

However, the board's report published in the Texas Journal of Corbin.

the laws. "There no doubt has been a misunderstanding of the work we are doing, which is principally to collect data concerning surface and underground waters in the entire state in co-operation with the U. S. Geological Survey."

Doctor Believes Common Cold Is 'Allergic Reaction'

WASHINGTON, April 23 (AP).—Something you eat or drink may be the starter for that common cold.

Dr. John M. Brewster of the Naval Hospital, Great Lakes, Ill., believes the first phase of the common cold is "an allergic reaction"—which can be cured by drugs that fight allergies.

He contends that when some food or drink to which we're sensitive gets into our mouths—or if we inhale some irritating substance—these "allergens" cause damage to the delicate mucous membranes of nose, mouth and throat.

Then if the virus of common cold is present it will find a nice nesting spot in the damaged membranes.

So Brewster figures that if you can check this allergic reaction you can lick your cold before it really gets going. And he says that a group of "antihistaminic drugs" can do the trick.

These drugs, which require a doctor's prescription, get their class name from the fact that they combat "histamine"—a substance that is released in the body in normal quantities during allergic conditions, such as fever, asthma and hives.

More than a year ago Brewster reported "unusually satisfactory results" in checking common colds in the early stages with "benadryl."

Now, in the Naval Medical Center, he reports use of four anti-histaminic drugs, pyrilamine, thienylene, neoantihistadyl.

Matthews Methodists Hold Homecoming, Open Building

Homecoming Day at Matthews Memorial Methodist Church, 2416 W. Berry, served two purposes Sunday as members and past members gathered to open formally a new $200,000 building.

Rev. T. Edgar Neal of Amarillo and a former pastor of the Fort Worth church, commended the members for the faith they had shown in rebuilding after a former building was condemned as unsafe.

He warned that continued faith is needed to carry on the work for which the building was designed.

"You have built your church, what now?" he asked.

Rev. Mr. Neal was heard at regular Sunday morning services, in which Rev. W. W. Ward, district superintendent, also participated. The day's program ended with lunch at the church.

A mock wedding was a feature of the evening. Sweetheart roses and pink and green tapers were used as decorations throughout the house.

A garden sprinkler from which a shower of green cellophane sprayed, centered a table laid with a lace cloth over a pink background. Smaller gifts for the honoree were concealed in the sprinkler.

An ice course of pink wedding slippers with green heels and individual green cakes bearing pink initials of the betrothed couple were served the following guests:

Miss Thelma Curtis, Mattie Clinton, Katharine Miller, Monnie DeArmand, Mabel Washburn, Pauline Hamilton, Agnes Britt and Dora Whalen, and Mmes. A. C. Tidwell, Paul Beasley, Leo Parsons, George Van Cleve, Mary Lavy, Aaron Colvin, W. G. Colvin, Carobel Stephens, Dorothy Brendel, B. B. Loughry, William Loughry, Claud Whalen, J. J. A salad course was served to 65 guests from a table laid with lace and lighted by white tapers in crystal holders. Sweetheart roses and baby's breath formed the centerpiece.

The wedding, which was announced by cupids bearing the names of the engaged couple and the wedding date, Sept. 18, will take place at the Young home. Mmes. Hudson and Beasley will be the bride's attendants, with little Betty Beheler, niece of the bride-elect, flower girl, Mr. Claude Whalen will be his brother's best man, and Mr. A. L. Miss Young, Mr. Whalen Are Married

Ceremony Is Read at Home of Bride's Parents by Rev. K. R. Isbell of Sherman.

The marriage of Miss Inez Young and Mr. J. J. Whalen Jr. took place last night at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Young, 2317 Chestnut Avenue. Rev. K. R. Isbell of Sherman, uncle of the bride, read the ceremony before an improvised altar banked with fern, palms and tall baskets of pink gladioli, and lighted by white tapers in bronze candelabra.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Paul J. Beasley, and Mrs. A. L. Hudson, who wore taffeta gowns made on the same pattern. Mrs. Beasley's dress was a neutral shade and she carried a bouquet of coral gladioli. Mrs. Hudson, whose gown was pink, carried a bouquet of orchid gladioli. Her fitted skirt flared into a slight train and her fingertip illusion veil fell from three rows of white satin. She carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

At the informal reception which followed the wedding an ice course was served to about 80 friends and relatives from a table laid with an Italian cut work cloth and lighted by white candles in crystal holders. Unusual Features Seen In Afternoon Wedding

Program of Voice Numbers and Mother of Bride as Matron
Of Honor Distinguish Smith-
Pryor Marriage

QUITE simple and yet beautiful will be the wedding of Miss Gladys Pryor with Jesse Burton Smith which will be solemnized Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Church of Christ.

Tall white tapers in torchieres, with pedestal baskets of pink and white gladioli and roses, will stand before a vine-covered lattice to form a background for the bridal party.

The musical program will be entirely one of voice, the Hart ensemble singing "I Love You Truly," "At Dawning" and "Faithful and True," as the processional.

While these songs are being given, Miss Mildred Redding, in a white lace gown and wearing a corsage of pink rosebuds, will light the candles.

Another unusual feature of the wedding is that the bride will have as her matron of honor her mother, Mrs. Green Hill Pryor, whose gown will be of pink lace with which she will wear a small hat of pink rosebuds, and pink accessories.

The other attendants will be a group of girls from Baton Rouge, La., Miss Opal Beasley, a cousin of the bride, Miss Mary Jane Carter and Miss Rose Hebert, with Miss Moire Van Horn of Neodosha, Kan.

All will wear lace frocks in the pastel shades of orchid, blue, yellow and green, and each will have a small hat of pink rosebuds, pink gloves and slippers. All of the attendants will carry arm bouquets of pink roses.

The bride, who will enter with her father, will wear a smart gown of white bridal satin made with a yoke and short puffed sleeves of lace from which long, satin glove-sleeves extend to cover her hands.

Her veil, bordered with lace applique, will fall from a cap which also has the lace applique. A shower bouquet of white roses and valley lilies will complete her costume.

Train bearers will be Barbara Kemp Winters and Ela Beth Lily, in green and yellow organdie frocks, while the little flower girl, Virginia Lee Johnson, will wear pink organdie.

Selden Fant will serve Mr. Smith as best man. Ushers will be Dr. Paul Jenkins, Harlan Moss, Ralph Hickman and J. B. Foster.

The marriage service will be read by the Rev. C. A. Norred.

Following the church ceremony there will be a reception at the home of the bride's parents, 1320 NE 19th-st. where a pink and white color note will be carried out in the decorations.

The three-tiered cake, banked with pink rosebuds and fern, will be cut and served by the bride.

Assisting the bride and bridegroom and Mr. and Mrs. Pryor in receiving will be Mr. Smith's mother, Mrs. Hettie Smith.

Later in the day Mr. Smith and his bride will leave for a motor trip to Corpus Christi, Texas, and Monterrey, Mexico.

Miss Pryor is a graduate of Central High School and attended the University of Oklahoma one year.

Mr. Smith, also a graduate of Central, is associated with the Texas Oil Co.

Out-of-town guests, in addition to those in the bridal party, will be Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Beasley, of Baton Rouge, Mrs. A. Pierce and Mrs. Charles Moore, both of Neadosha.

Tess' Tea Table Talk

THERE IS something new under the sun, despite reports to the contrary. And, to make it more interesting, this something new was found at a wedding, the one occasion, more than all others where rigid rules of fashion are followed.

I'll not keep you in suspense longer, but tell you that the innovation was a church wedding in Oklahoma City without a strain of instrumental music—no organ, no violin, no piano.

For the first time in the history of the city we had a church wedding at which the entire musical program was sung and that wedding was Sunday afternoon when Gladys Pryor became the bride of Jesse Burton Smith.

It seems that the Church of Christ, where the wedding took place has a rule against instrumental music within the church and so, when Gladys, a daughter of the south and member of the church, planned to be married, she was not to be deterred from having a church wedding, with all the trimmings, by the fact that she could have no organ upon which to have the wedding march played.

So she called upon Samuel G. Hart for a choir of mixed voices to sing, not only the program of nuptial music preceding the ceremony, but also the Bridal Chorus from "Lohengrin" as a processional, the first time that has been done in the state, I'll wager.

And that isn't all. Throughout the reading of the marriage service, this choir furnished a musical background by subdued singing which swelled into a recessional as the bridal party passed out of the church.

Speaking of weddings, one must be smart these days, even though one does swelter, for all smart weddings are set for the late afternoon, just when the Oklahoma sun is the hottest.

Unless the fashion changes, they will have to install cooled air systems in our homes and churches.

Still speaking of weddings, everyone is thrilled to their toes by the unexpected wedding of Olive Snyder and her naval officer, George Molumphy, which took place Sunday morning.

But here is the joke about that wedding. It was supposed to be a deep, dark secret, and yet I heard about it several days before from more different groups than any other "quiet" wedding we ever have had.

Can you think of anything more romantic than being young and very much in love with some one of similar tastes and interests, being married to that someone and going to that most interesting of countries, China, for a honeymoon of three years?

Now, that is my idea of real romance and I don't know a girl who could get much more out of such a honeymoon than Olive, who, as you know, is more interested in other things than the mine run of social life.

By the way, one of the nicest gifts that Olive received was a "Who's Who in China," given her by Noel Houston, who had the typical Chinese good wishes for a marriage written in Chinese on the fly-leaf.

Claude Whalen Wins City Golf Title From M. L. Massingill, 6 Up

Young Glen Garden Entry Plays Great Game in Morning Round.

Playing the best golf ever shot by an amateur over the River Crest club course, Claude Whalen defeated M. L. Massingill for the city golf title Sunday, six up and four to play. "Ole," as he is affectionately called by golfers, shot a clean 75 in the morning round, while Massingill was off his game and the young Glen Garden entry finished the round six up on his older opponent. Whalen went out in 37 and came back in 38, while Massingill took 42 for the outward trip and 41 coming back for an 83.

Whalen's morning round was one over par for the eighteen holes, he running into some bad luck in the thirteenth that cut down his medal score. He shot birdies on 3, 7, 8 and 18; par on 2, 5, 9, 10, 11, 12, 14, 15, 16, 17; took five for No. 1, four for No. 4, four for No. 6, six for No. 13, the latter being a par four hole. Whalen was on his game in all departments. He showed particular brilliance in his approach shots, but upset the pre-match predictions in some instances with some fine long putts.

Though the match was finished on the fourteenth hole, it was played out. Massingill shot much better golf for his afternoon round and had the better of the round, but his handicap was too steep to overcome. Massingill and Whalen both made the afternoon round in 77.

In the afternoon round Whalen shot No. 4 in two, his drive laying twenty-five feet from the pin. He sunk the long putt for a birdie on a par three hole.

MORNING ROUND.

FIRST HOLE.

Pre-match predictions that Whalen would lead his older opponent in driving and approach shots, but that Massingill would excel in work on the greens seemed to be borne out at the No. 1 pin, when Whalen missed a two-foot putt and the hole, halving it with Massingill with a five. Drives were both good and almost even, but Whalen laid his third shot almost dead to the pin, while Massingill was five feet away. Massingill missed this, for him, easy chance to sink and it seemed Whalen's hole, but he also missed, and it was halved.

SECOND HOLE.

From No. 2 tee, both men hooked their shots onto the other fairway, Whalen having a few yards the best of the drive. Whalen was on the green with his iron shot, Massingill sliced a bit and laid to the right of the green. Whalen played a safe putt and laid his third two feet from the pin, while Massingill again fell about five feet short. Massingill missed his putt for a four, while Whalen sunk the short putt and took the hole with a par four.

THIRD HOLE.

Whalen hooked his drive from No. 3, about 250 yards into the rough, while Massingill sliced out of bounds. Massingill hooked his second ball into the bunker and crossed over to the other bunker on his third. Whalen shot straight down the edge of the rough 75 yards from the green, while Massingill came out of his second trap on the hole nicely and laid fifty feet from the green. Whalen made a beautiful 75-yard approach from the rough, laying about six feet from the cup, from where he sunk his ball for a par four and the hole.

FOURTH HOLE.

No. 4 was played even all the way. Whalen's drive was over the sand trap to the right of the green, while Massingill's was short of the trap. Both laid on the green with their second, about twelve feet from the cup. Both laid in safe and sunk their short putts for a halved four on a par three hole.

FIFTH HOLE.

Whalen missed a three-foot putt on No. 5 and as a result had missed a birdie four. He halved the hole with Massingill on a par five.

SIXTH HOLE.

Massingill took his first hole on the short No. 6. His mashie shot was on the green, while Whalen's was long. Whalen laid in to within two feet of the cup and Massingill missed his long putt. Whalen failed to sink his ball from two feet and Massingill was down with a par three and the hole.

SEVENTH HOLE.

Beginning with No. 7, Whalen shot magnificent golf in all departments to the turn. This hole is 323 yards, a par four. Whalen drove a good 275, his approach was on the green and he sunk a twelve-foot putt for a birdie three. Massingill took a par four, making the match two up.

EIGHTH HOLE.

Whalen shot another birdie three on No. 8, after hooking into the bunker. Ole's approach from the trap was a beauty, the ball laying seven feet from the cup, from which he sank it for the hole. Massingill also had a chance for a birdie with a two-foot putt, but missed it and took a par four.

NINTH HOLE.

Whalen shot perfect golf on the long No. 9. His drive was within ten feet of the bunker, his second well over the ditch, his third on the green and he was dead to the pin on his fourth, while, in order to halve the hole Massingill had to make a long putt. He missed this and whalen was down in five and four up at the turn.

HALVE NEXT THREE.

Massingill seemed to brace coming in and halved the next three, both men playing safe, par golf and making Nos. 10, 11 and 12 in par fours. Whalen had his first bad luck on No. 13, his short drive rolling into the bunker on the fairway. He drove the ball against the wall of the trap with his mashie shot, and it went into the hole.

River Crest golfer approached within three feet of the cup on his third shot. Whalen fell short about two feet with his putt. Massingill sank his three-foot putt for a four. Whalen sank a one-foot putt for his four, which halved the hole with two fours.

THIRD HOLE.

Whalen drove down the edge of the fairway 200 yards. Massingill drove down the middle of the fairway for the same distance. Massingill drove 175 feet over the bunker down the middle of the fairway. Whalen drove over the bunker to the edge of the green. Massingill went on the green. Whalen's approach was two feet short. Whalen sank a two-foot putt for a four. Massingill sank a two-foot putt for his four, which halved the hole in four.

FOURTH HOLE.

Whalen made the best drive of the afternoon match, sending the ball 312 yards and onto the green. Massingill's was almost as good, but fell short by about five feet. Massingill went onto the green, but his putt was about one foot short of the hole. Whalen sank a twenty-five-foot putt for a birdie two and the hole. Massingill had a par three.

FIFTH HOLE.

Whalen pulled his drive on the other fairway. Massingill also pulled his shot. Whalen pulled into the rough. Massingill drove down the fairway 200 yards and over the bunker. Massingill's approach was one foot short of the green. Whalen drove over the bunker, falling three feet short of the green. Whalen's approach was too long, the ball rolling over the hole about two feet. Massingill missed an eight-foot putt. Whalen missed a six-foot putt. Happy sank a two-foot putt for a five and the hole. Whalen took a six. Score: Whalen one up.

SIXTH HOLE.

Happy drove 275 yards to the edge of the green. Claude drove over the green, the ball stopping on the top edge. The distance of the champion's drive was 165 yards. Whalen missed his approach of the cup by inches. Massingill then hit the inside of the cup, but the ball bounced back.

Whalen made a five-foot putt. Massingill made his first halving the hole three all.

SEVENTH HOLE.

Happy pulled into a bunker on his 250-yard shot. Whalen sliced into the rough 250 yards. Happy drove out of the bunker onto the edge of the green. Ole drove out of the rough onto the edge of the green. Whalen's approach missed the cup by a few inches. Happy's approach went wide of the cup by six inches. Claude's putt was short about a foot. Massingill sank a six-inch putt for a four, winning the hole and evening the match.

EIGHTH HOLE.

Going to the eighth hole, Claude drove out of bounds. Whalen drove his second straight down the fairway and over the green for a distance of 280 yards. Happy drove the ball within eight yards of the green on the right edge of the fairway. Happy drove to the edge of the green. Claude's approach was short about five feet. Claude's putt was about a half foot short. Massingill sank his putt for a four, while Claude missed his putt, taking a five. Score: Massingill 1 up.

NINTH HOLE.

Massingill drove down the fairway about 260 yards. Whalen sliced into a bunker and was well out his second but was still in the rough. His third shot, however, was a remarkable recovery and went over 200 yards onto the green. Massingill's second shot into a bushie, which traveled about 275 yards to within about five yards of the green. Whalen took his two putts, being down in a par four, which was halved by Massingill when his four-footer failed to go down for a four.

TENTH HOLE.

Whalen drove 300 yards down the middle of the fairway, over-driving the green. Massingill drove just short of the green. His second left him a twelve-foot putt, which he made for a three. Whalen's second was ten feet short of the cup, which he also made for three.

ELEVENTH HOLE.

Whalen drove 275 yards down the fairway. Massingill's drive hooked slightly into the rough. Whalen's second was twenty feet past the hole. Massingill's second took a bad bound, which left him on the right of the green. Both went down in two, taking fours.

TWELFTH HOLE.

Whalen's drive was 320 yards down the middle of the fairway, while Massingill's drive was about 20 yards shorter. Both were on the green on their second going down in two putts, for a half with fours.

THIRTEENTH HOLE.

Whalen drove 275 yards down the fairway. Massingill's drive was a little high, but he had a good second shot, which was a little short of the green. Whalen's second was also short of the green and both thirds were past the cup. Both men missed their putts, halving the hole in five.

FOURTEENTH HOLE.

Whalen's drive was 285 yards against the wind, while Massingill's was about 225 yards down the fairway. Massingill's second was played short of the road, while Whalen made a good cleek shot and was just short of the green on his second. Massingill's third took a bad break to the right, which left him just off the green. Whalen's third was on the far edge of the green. He took two putts, while Happy took three shots from the edge, which gave Whalen the match, 6 up 4.

After getting away with a 200-yard drive, Whalen recovered his stroke in playing perfect golf, was on the green in four. Massingill's approach shot caught the roll at the edge of the green and the ball went to the edge of the rough. Whalen's attempt to lay up was short and he was six feet from the pin. However, he steadied and made a par five in taking the hole.

FIFTEENTH HOLE.

Fifteen was halved with perfect golf by both contestants. Whalen's drive was thirty feet to the right of the green, while Massingill laid at the edge of the road opposite the pin. Whalen's approach laid his ball dead to the pin. Massingill conceding the short putt. Massingill laid up to three feet and also sunk for a par three.

SIXTEENTH HOLE.

Whalen's best golf was played on No. 16, probably, while Massingill had his hardest luck. The youngster's drive was a good 300 yards straight down the fairway. The ball stopped just short of the ditch. Massingill sliced badly, his ball rolling into the gully and resting in high grass and water. His lie was so bad he had to take the ball up. Whalen was down in four, while Massingill took seven. This hole gave Whalen a lead of five up.

SEVENTEENTH HOLE.

Massingill missed a five-foot putt for a birdie three and a chance to take the hole. Both drove about 250 yards into the rough. Both were on the green with their iron shots, Massingill five feet from the pin and Whalen twelve. Both laid dead and took a par four.

EIGHTEENTH HOLE.

Both played safe with their drives, going well onto the other fairway. Ole, on his second, was on the edge of the green, while Massingill was at the edge of the rough. Massingill's approach was long, going into the bunkers beyond the green. Whalen laid up within two feet of the pin and was down in four, while Massingill took five. This gave Whalen a lead of six up for the morning round.

AFTERNOON ROUND.

FIRST HOLE.

Whalen drove 200 yards down the fairway. Massingill pulled into the rough. Whalen drove 175 yards over the bunker, the ball rolling over the green. Massingill overshot the green, going into the rough. Whalen approached over the cup about two feet. Massingill drove out of the rough onto the green. Whalen sunk his putt for a four. Massingill missed his, taking a five. One up Whalen.

Miss Dura-Louise Cockrell has set a precedent for Fort Worth's public schools—she will graduate at the age of 14. Miss Cockrell, a member of this year's finishing class at Senior High, is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. R. Cockrell of Texas Christian University. Her parents expect to have her enter T. C. U. in the Fall and complete the course for the A. B. degree, then she will be sent to an Eastern or European school for special training in literature or art. She already has had her childish triumphs in both of these lines, having won many ribbons and medals for her drawings and water color sketches as well as medals and awards for her essays. JENFRO LOSES FIRST ROUND TO WHALEN

Claude "Ole" Whalen, for two years city golf champion of Fort Worth, took a flying start for his battle for the third annual championship when he defeated Jay Renfro, 6 and 5, at Glen Garden Sunday. Ole showed his best form around the greens and his putting could not have been beaten. Jay could never hit his stride and at no time did he worry the champion; whenever he had an opportunity it was thrown away by poor putting.

Only two other matches were played in the first flight; Frank Rose, the junior city champion, defeated Herman Gartner on the twentieth hole. The lad was up all the way and he showed lots of nerve when the match was halved and extra holes had to be played. In the other match Joe Kingsberry defeated Dr. J. M. Furman by 3 and 2; at the end of the first nine Dr. Furman led by 3 up but Joe came strong and the match ended at the sixteenth hole.

In the second flight Jack Davies defeated W. C. Stripling by 3 and 2. George Martin defeated Dr. Veatch by 2 up and G. B. Doyle won from Hubb Diggs by the same margin. The feature match of the second flight was between I. F. Spencer and Dr. Victor Bonnell and it had to go 21 holes before the doctor came through for the win.

All matches in the first round in both flights are due this week and must be played before Saturday night over the Glen Garden course.

QUALIFYING FOR CITY TOURNEY BEGINS MONDAY AT RIVER CREST

Another year has passed, and again the city golf title is at stake. For the past two years Claude Whalen, a youth who learned to play golf by caddying at Glen Garden, has worn the crown and he will put forth every effort in the next few weeks to defend his title. Both courses are in good condition and a large entry is expected. The qualifying round will be played over the Glen Garden course during the week March 19-25. Since the State championship is to be played over the River Crest course during the latter part of May, it has been decided to play the remainder of the city meet over that course. This will enable members of both clubs to get better acquainted with the conditions that exist at River Crest. The qualifying round will begin on Sunday and one week will be allowed in which to qualify. Pairings will be drawn Saturday night, March 25. One week will be allowed for each match and in case the match due is not played during the week it shall be defaulted and both players eliminated.

Is Third Meet.

The city championship is an annual affair being played each year during the month of March. This is the third meet, the first having been played in 1920 and the second in 1921. In 1920 Whalen defeated in the finals Robert Wortham and in 1921 he defeated M. L. Massingill.

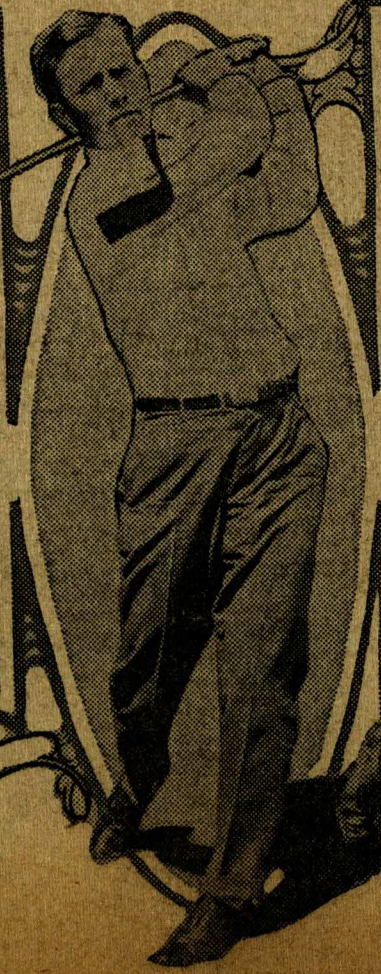

From all indications this tourney will be the hardest fought ever staged in Fort Worth and the winner will have beaten the strongest field ever gathered for the local championship. Whalen will be the strong to defend his title while all others will be fighting for the crown. M. L. Massingill, whom Whalen defeated in the finals last year, will be a strong contender and a worthy opponent for anyone entered. Robert Wortham, whom Whalen defeated in the finals in 1920, is working daily and he promises to give a good account of himself. Jay Renfro, the 19-year-old sensation of the River Crest invitation tournament last year, is on hand and if he gets to going as he did against Jimmy Kennedy, Jay will certainly be hard to head off.

Gordon Going Good.

Morris Gordon, formerly of Kansas City, but now a member of the River Crest Club, is going at a high rate, and is likely at any minute to step out and pull a big surprise. Bob Killough of Glen Garden is a past finalist in the State championship. He is feared and will be closely watched by all those after the title. Chilton Jennings, winner of The Star-Telegram tournament in 1914, is playing great golf and he will no doubt let someone know he is in the running. Sam Hogsett, one of the best read men on golf in the United States and a former medalist in the State meet, will be entered and give an account of his knowledge of the game.

Three Veterans Entered.

H. L. Rudmose is a local man and the golf he is playing at present will make any of the favorites step to put him out of the running. River Crest has three veterans who are going to be mighty hard to get away from. W. C. Stripling, Morris Berney and Mr. Humble are the three hopes. Last, but not least, comes a late entry from Glen Garden and one that will make all favored ones sit up and take notice. Will Hill Acker, who is a student in T. C. U., has decided to make a try for the title and he will prove dangerous to anyone. Young Acker will be remembered as the lad who defeated Tommy Cochran for the first flight consolations in the River Crest Invitation tourney in 1921.

Whalen Will Battle Renfro in City Golf Tourney's 1st Round

Pairings Show Interesting Matches Are Coming Up.

Only two flights will be played in the city golf championship this year. This was determined upon last night, when it was found that only about seventy-five players turned in qualifying cards, whereas ninety-six were needed to fill three flights.

Pairings for the first round of play were drawn and show a fair balance between the two brackets in the first flight. Probably the feature match of the first round is that between Claude Whalen, present titleist, and Jay Renfro, winner of the invitation tourney at River Crest last fall. This match will be played over the Glen Garden course this morning at 10 o'clock and will eliminate a probable contender either way it goes.

Hot Matches Promised.

Matches in this first round in both flights will be played this week, the second round starting next Sunday—one round each week until the semi-finals. All matches up to these will be played on the Glen Garden course and will be for eighteen holes. The semi-finals and finals will be for thirty-six holes and will be played at River Crest.

Diagnosing the two brackets, some interesting matches are promised. In the bottom bracket, the semi-finals should be fought out between the winner of the Whalen-Renfro match this morning and Fred Cahoon, who is considered the class of the Glen Garden contingent.

In the top bracket, strictly on performance, Happy Massingill and Morris Gordon should come down into the semi-finals. However, there are several golfers in the sixteen who may cause trouble when caught on their game. These include Pete Wortham, who is a consistent golfer.

Eleven golfers turned in qualifying cards yesterday despite a rather soft course. Watt Reynolds led the field with an 87.

Pairings in the two flights, by bracket, are as follows:

First Flight.

Massingill vs. Dunning.
Will K. Stripling vs. Pete Wortham.
Joe Kingsbury vs. Dr. Furman.

Miss Young, Mr. Whalen Are Married

Ceremony Is Read at Home of Bride's Parents by Rev. K. R. Isbell of Sherman.

The marriage of Miss Inez Young and Mr. J. J. Whalen Jr. took place last night at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Young, 2317 Chestnut Avenue. Rev. K. R. Isbell of Sherman, uncle of the bride, read the ceremony before an improvised altar banked with fern, palms and tall baskets of pink gladioli, and lighted by white tapers in bronze candelabra.

Mrs. Ethel Gear sang "I Love You Truly" as the prenuptial solo, accompanied by Mrs. T. H. Loggins, who also played the Lohengrin wedding march and "Liebestraum" during the ceremony.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Paul J. Beasley, and Mrs. A. L. Hudson, who wore taffeta gowns made on the same pattern. Mrs. Beasley's dress was a neutral shade and she carried a bouquet of coral gladioli. Mrs. Hudson, whose gown was pink, carried a bouquet of orchid gladioli. Little Betty Blanche Beheler, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore an ankle length blue taffeta dress with pink accessories.

Mr. Claude Whalen, brother of the bridegroom, was his best man, and Mr. A. L. Hudson was groomsman.

The bride wore a white satin gown with cowl neck and long full sleeves fitted below the elbow forming points over the hands. Her fitted skirt flared into a slight train and her fingertip illusion veil fell from three rows of white satin. She carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

At the informal reception which followed the wedding an ice course was served to about 80 friends and relatives from a table laid with an Italian cut work cloth and lighted by white candles in crystal holders. The table was centered with a bowl of pink asters, and baby's breath. Mmes. Beasley, Hudson, Harold Graves and Claude Whalen, and Misses Mattie Clinton, Beth Hudson, Dorothy Huff and Dora Whalen assisted in serving.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Hampton and son, Wade, of Dallas; Misses Ellie Huff and Inez Rudy of Bowie; Miss Dorothy Huff of Dallas; Mrs. Dave Cooper of Alvord, and Rev. and Mrs. K. R. Isbell and daughter, Geraldine, of Sherman.

After a wedding trip to Monterey, Mexico, the young couple will make their home at 1619 Harrington Avenue. Mrs. Whalen traveled in a black knit suit with a touch of green worn with black accessories. Mr. Whalen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Whalen, 2001 May Street.

Mrs. Parker, Miss Young Are Honored

Recent and Future Brides
Are Complimented With
2 Different Parties Here.

A recent and a future bride, both recognized at a number of recent parties, were again honored guests at entertainments last night.

Mrs. Lowell Tinkle, 1201 East Richmond Avenue, held open house for Mrs. Glen Parker, the former Miss Nona Gilvin. Mrs. Tinkle's sisters-in-law, Misses Sybil and Maybelle Tinkle, were co-hostesses.

Misses Dorothy Graner and Lois Shelton presided at the punch bowl, and Miss Maxine Heindel at the bride's book. A miscellaneous shower of gifts was presented the bride, who will leave tomorrow to make her home in Austin. Mr. Parker is a member of the faculty of the University of Texas.

Vases of pink and white carnations were used profusely throughout the house, and a pink and white ice course was served 50 guests.

Complimenting Miss Inez Young, whose marriage to Mr. J. J. Whalen Jr. will take place tomorrow, Miss Mattie Clinton, 2708 Azle Avenue, entertained with a bridge party and miscellaneous shower.

Little Betty Veheler, niece of the bride-elect, presented the gifts from a wagon decorated in blue and white, the color scheme used throughout the house.

Refreshments were served the following: Mmes. J. J. Whalen, Harold Graves, E. M. Fridge, Floyd Shelton, Carlton Lynch, Claude Whalen, Louie Hudson, Gladys Hudson, T. H. Young and F. E. Miller, and Misses Dora Whalen, Beth Hudson, Edna Hammond and Lucille Miller.

Miss Young, Bride - Elect, Is Complimented

Miscellaneous Shower Is Given by Mrs. A. L. Hudson, Miss Beth Hudson.

Miss Inez Young, whose approaching marriage to Mr. J. J. Whalen Jr. Friday has been announced, was complimented last night at a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. A. L. Hudson and her sister-in-law, Miss Beth Hudson, at the home of Mrs. Hudson, 322 Lake Shore Drive.

A mock wedding was a feature of the evening. Sweetheart roses and pink and green tapers were used as decorations throughout the house.

A garden sprinkler from which a shower of green cellophane sprayed, centered a table laid with a lace cloth over a pink background. Smaller gifts for the honoree were concealed in the sprinkler.

An ice course of pink wedding slippers with green heels and individual green cakes bearing pink initials of the betrothed couple were served the following guests:

Misses Thelma Curtis, Mattie Clinton, Katharine Miller, Monnie DeArmand, Mabel Washburn, Pauline Hamilton, Agnes Britt and Dora Whalen, and Mmes. A. C. Tidwell, Paul Beasley, Leo Parsons, George Van Cleve, Mary Lavy, Aaron Colvin, W. G. Colvin, Carobel Stephens, Dorothy Brendel, B. B. Loughry, William Loughry, Claud Whalen, J. J. Whalen and Fred Whalen.

Immediately after the wedding Friday the couple will leave for a honeymoon in Monterey, Mexico. After their return, the bride will be complimented at a breakfast given by Miss Dorothy Huff and a morning coffee by Mrs. Harold Graves. Miss Mattie Clinton will entertain tomorrow night with a bridge party and shower.

Approaching Marriage Is Told at Tea

Mrs. Beasley Entertains
for Sister, Miss Young,
Mr. Whalen's Bride-Elect.

Mrs. Paul J. Beasley, assisted by her mother, Mrs. T. H. Young, entertained with a tea at her home, 1102 Northwest Fifteenth Street, yesterday to announce the approaching marriage of her sister, Miss Inez Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Young, 2317 Chestnut Avenue, to Mr. J. J. Whalen Jr., son of Mrs. J. J. Whalen, 2001 May Street.

The honoree, the hostesses and the bridegroom-elect's mother received the guests. Miss Dorothy Huff of Dallas presided at the guest book and Mrs. A. L. Hudson and Misses Mattie Clinton and Beth Hudson assisted in serving.

Others in the house party were Mmes. Carobel Stephens, Claude Whalen, Harold Graves and S. B. Huff and Miss Dora Whalen.

A salad course was served to 65 guests from a table laid with lace and lighted by white tapers in crystal holders. Sweetheart roses and baby's breath formed the centerpiece.

The wedding, which was announced by cupids bearing the names of the engaged couple and the wedding date, Sept. 18, will take place at the Young home. Mmes. Hudson and Beasley will be the bride's attendants, with little Betty Beheler, niece of the bride-elect, flower girl. Mr. Claude Whalen will be his brother's best man, and Mr. A. L. Hudson will be groomsmen.

First of a series of pre-nuptial parties will be a miscellaneous shower to be given tonight by Mrs. A. L. Hudson and Miss Beth Hudson. Miss Mattie Clinton will have a bridge party and shower Wednesday night and Miss Dorothy Huff will have a breakfast, date of which will be announced later.

Shower Given for Miss Inez Young

Mrs. A. L. Hudson and her daughter, Miss Beth Hudson, will entertain tonight with a miscellaneous shower for Miss Inez Young, whose approaching marriage, Sept. 18, to Mr. J. J. Whalen Jr. was announced Sunday when Mrs. Paul J. Beasley, assisted by her mother, Mrs. T. H. Young, entertained with a tea at the Beasley home, 1102 West Fifteenth Street, North.

Plans for the nuptials were revealed to the guests at the announcement tea by cupids bearing the names of the engaged couple. The wedding will take place at the home of the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Young, 2317 Chestnut Avenue. Mmes. Hudson and Beasley will be the adult attendants and little Betty Beheler, niece of the bride-elect, the flower girl. Mr. Claude Whalen will be his brother's best man and Mr. Hudson will be the groomsmen.

Other parties for Miss Young include a bridge party and shower Wednesday night, to be given by Miss Mattie Clinton, and a breakfast which Miss Dorothy Huff is planning.

It gives me extreme pleasure to announce the marriage of Claude Whalen, golf pro at Glen Garden, to Miss Nell Anderson, the happy event having taken place Tuesday afternoon. Ole, as he is known to every golfer in Fort Worth, has a host of friends. He is a high-class youngster, likable, sticks to business and if he has any enemies they are unknown to he or anybody else. We wish Mr. and Mrs. Whalen a long and happy wedded life.

Central Cheer Songs and Yells

For Friday's Game with Bryan

1. The Bryan team is on the field,
Central Hi, My Central Hi.
To its attack we will not yield,
Central Hi, My Central Hi.
Remember Weatherford could not score,
Remember Terrell boasts no more.
We'll fight them as in days of yore,
Central Hi, My Central Hi.
* * *
2. Go get 'em Central Team, Team,
Team
For the school's behind you every time.
Go get 'em Central Team, Team,
Team,
For a touchdown sure this time.
Fight 'em and fight 'em, and make 'em eat dust,
If you can't do it, then leave it to us.
Go get 'em Central Team, Team,
Team,
Hit that line a little harder,
The line a little harder,
And bring a touchdown home this time.
* * *

3. Fight on for Central, Central must win,
Fight to the finish, never give in.
Rah! Rah! Rah!
You do your best, boys,
We'll do the rest, boys!
Fight on for victory!
Rah! Rah! Rah! Rah!
* * *

4. O Central Hi School,
O Central Hi School.
O Bryan, hear our cry,
We're here to win or die,
O Central Hi School,
O Central Hi School,
We'll win the game
Or know the reason why!
* * *

5. We're from old Central Hi,
We're here to win or die,
We're here to play the game,
And that's what we'll do.
(Well, Well, Well!)
The games we lose are few!
We'll beat old Bryan, too!
(Yell)
How the Hell you get that way?
(Sing)
She told me so!
* * *

6. Central will shine tonight,
Central will shine (Halleluja!)
Central will shine tonight,
Central will shine (Halleluja!)
Central will shine tonight,
Central will shine!
When the sun goes down
And the moon comes up,
Central will shine!
* * *

7. We've gotta team, eleven men strong
Can't be beat, so listen to our song.
They are fast, they can run,
They can make a pass like a bullet from a gun—
Central Hi, Central Hi,
Boys, we can't be beat!

8. Purple and White, Purple and White!
Purple is for loyalty,
The White for truth and right.
Purple and White, Purple and White!
Of all the colors I love best,
It's Purple and White!
* * *

9. Central Spirit never gonna die,
Our bones gonna rise again.
Knock us in the elbow, jig us in the eye,
Our bones gonna rise again.
I knows it SISTERS (shout), I knows it SISTERS (shout)
I knows that our bones gonna rise again!
* * *

10. We always take the trouble just to
S-M-I-L-E!
Central takes the trouble just to
S-M-I-L-E!
We smile when we're in trouble
And it vanishes like a bubble,
Just because we take the trouble just to S-M-I-L-E!
* * *

YELLS

1. Your Pep, Your Pep,
You got it, now keep it,
Doggone it, don't lose it.
(Repeat entire yell three times.)
* * *

2. Rip Van Winkle,
Little Yellow Pup,
Central, Central, never give up.
* * *

3. Fight, Fight, Purple and White,
Central, Central, Fight, Fight, Fight!
* * *

4. This is the deaf and dumb yell:
Clap hands on knees three times,
Clap hands together three times,
Shake fists over head three times,
Jump up and yell "Yea."
(Repeat three times.)
* * *

5. Yea, Central! (Pause)
Yea, Central! (Pause)
Yea, Central! (Pause)
Fight, Fight, Fight!
* * *

6. We'll sink 'em,
We'll sink 'em,
We'll sink 'em,
Wells, Wells, Wells!
* * *

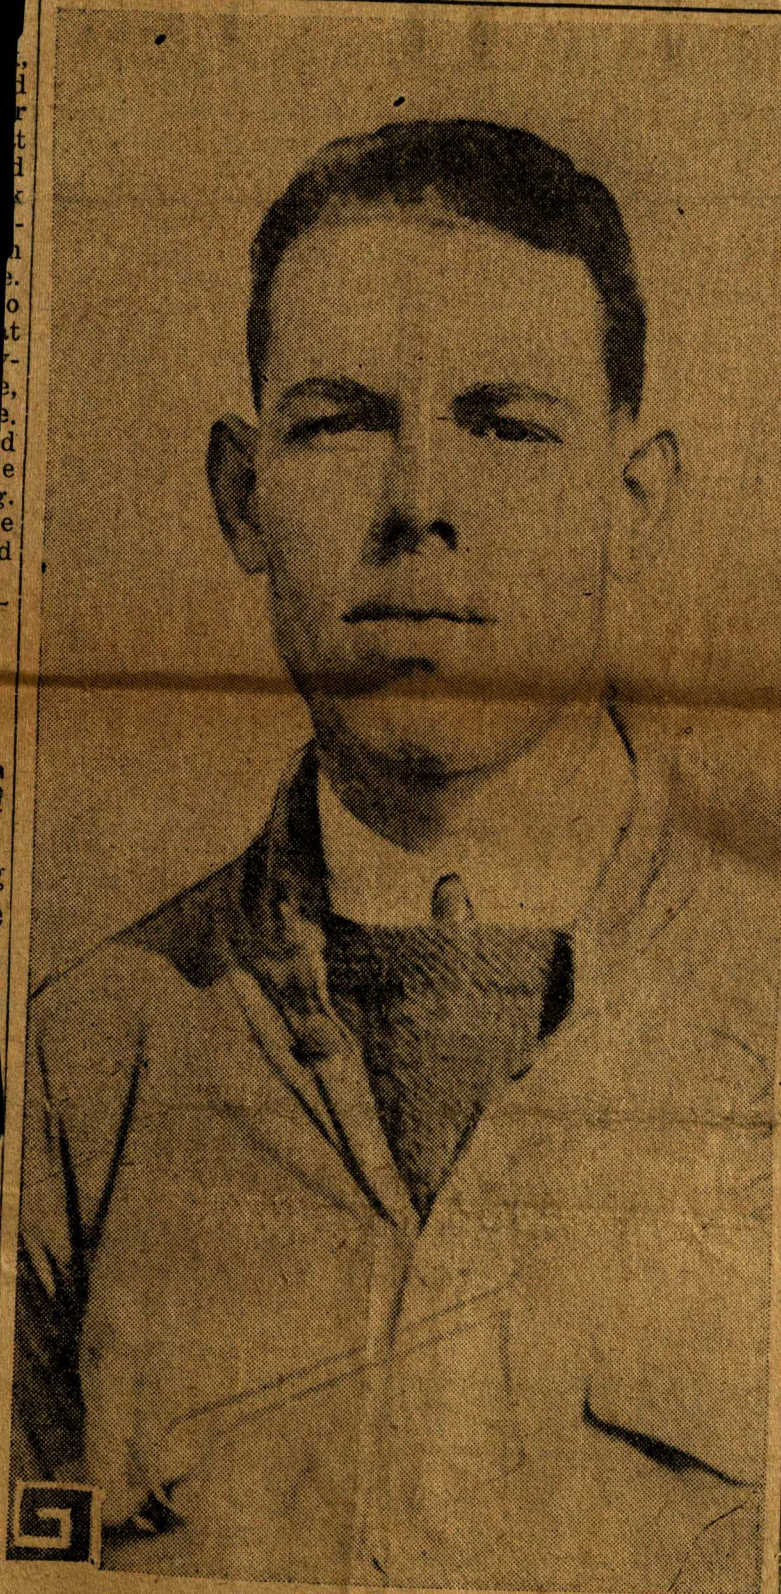

7. This is the sky rocket yell:
Everyone whistle, getting gradually louder and then softer.
Then hiss in the same way.
Yell "Ah!" (Pause)
"Central—Fight, Fight, Fight!"
* * *

8. Rip Saw, Rip Saw, Rip Saw, Bang!
We belong to the Central gang!
Kill the pest, leave the rest!
Central, Central, Yes, Yes, Yes!
* * *

9. You haven't got the Pep,
You haven't got the Jazz,
You haven't got the Team
That Central has!

Golfer Loses Control

Riled up by a remark that he had lost his control, Ole Whalen, pro at Glen Garden, stepped forth upon the links Friday and shot himself a 65. Not once was he off the fairway in the 18 holes. Adam Dubb, Record golf writer, tells of the "almost perfect round" in his column in this section today.
