YE BADDE BULLE.
(By "Wahrte.")

These Aviators.

I thought I had myself a girl this year;
Fact is, I almost knew that she was mine.

She'd look up in my face and call me
"dear,"

And so—oh, well you see
I simply had to fall for her, I guess;
That's how it was with me.

And thus it is, when one can't see mishaps,

And when he gets perhaps a bit
cocksure,

His girl begins to flirt with other chaps.

Imagine, if you can,

Just how it feels to me to be left out.
For now I'm not high man.

My girl is now in love with some sad bird

She never saw till just the other day;

But she is his—you have it on my word;

They're right as they can be.

And, as perhaps you've been in love yourself,

You know it's tough on me.

That aviation student has her down;
I believe that girl would eat out of his hand.

'Twas bad for me when those boys came to town.

There's just one thing to do
For me to beat this aviator lad—
I'll join the army, too.

If the truth could be known probably it would be found that the reason the girls love the soldiers is because the soldiers love the girls.

If you think you are beaten, you are;
If you think you dare not, you don't;
If you like to win but you think you can't,
It's almost certain you won't.
If you think you'll lose, you've lost;
For out of the world we find Success begins with a fellow's will;
It's all in the state of mind.

If you think you're outclassed, you are;
You've got to think high to rise;
You've got to be sure of yourself before
You can ever win a prize.
Life's battles don't always go

But soon or late the man who wins
Is the one who thinks he can.

GIVE ME A GIRL.

Give me a girl of yesterday,
With her simple, honest ways,
Then let me see the love-light stray
Into her thoughtful, earnest gaze.

O, it's not a painted face,
Nor a manufactured stare,
That leaves a lasting trace
When a man really comes to care.

I am sick of fashion's idols,
I am tired of modern play;
I am thru with waxen dolls—
Give me a girl of yesterday.

THE FLU

When your back is broke and your eyes are blurred,
And your shin bones knock and your tongue is furred,
And your tonsils squeak and your hair gets dry,
And you're doggone sure that you're going to die.
But you're skeered you won't and afraid you will,
Just drag to bed and have your chill,
And pray the Lord to see you tru,
For you've got the flu, boy,
You've got the flu.

When your toes curl up and your
belt goes flat,
And you're twice as mean as a Thomas cat,
And life is a long and dismal curse,
And your food all tastes like a hard-
boiled hearse;
When your lattice aches and your
head's a-buzz,
And nothing is as it ever was,
Here are my sad regrets to you—
You've got the flu, boy,
You've got the flu.

Ask me, brother, for I've been thru.
What is it like, this Spanish flu?
It is by Misery out of Despair;
It pulls your teeth and curls your hair;
It thins your blood and brays your bones,
And fills your craw with moans and groans,
And sometimes, maybe, you get well.
Some call it flu—I call it hell!
—J. P. McEvoy.

THE CHARGE OF THE SKIRT BRIGADE

Half an inch, half an inch,
Half an inch tighter,
For cloth is high and scarce
And prices no lighter;
Forward the Skirt Brigade,
Forward the dress parade,
Still they grow slighter.

Forward the Skirt Brigade;
Was there a one afraid?
Not though the ladies knew
Fashion had blundered.
Their's no' to make reply,
Their's not to reason why,
Their's but to do or die;
Dress shops were plundered.

Men to the right of them,
Men to the left of them,
Men in front of them,
Stared at and wondered
How could they walk so well;
Nobody slipped or fell
Though one was sundered.

Honor the dress brigade,
Oh, what a sight they made!
All the world wondered Everyone stared at it,
Copper and sparrow;
How can she walk in it?
Ain't she afraid it'll split?
It's really too close a fit.
Gee! but it's narrow.

Men to the right of them,
Men to the left of them,
Men behind them,
Stared at and wondered.
Who can the story tell
How they can walk so well?
Nobody slipped or fell,
And only one sundered.

In Honor of Mrs. Lightfoot.

As a farewell to Mrs. J. P. Lightfoot, who leaves Austin Monday to join Judge Lightfoot in a new home in Chicago, the Pathfinders' Club gave a dinner in the Y. W. C. A. administration building Thursday evening at 6 o'clock.

Spring flowers in artistically blended tints decorated the table, and the club colors of violet and white were featured in the marking of the places with corsage bouquets of natural violets tied with white ribbon.

Miss Elma Dill presided, and the following program of toasts was given:

Mrs. J. W. Lowber, "Our Club."

Response was made by Mrs. Lightfoot in a pretty speech, showing her depth of feeling for the club of which she had been president for several terms and her pleasure in the beautiful gift.

The toasts were concluded by a reading by Miss Minnie Dill, "Auld Lang Syne."

The delectable dinner was served by the following daughters of club members: Misses Helen Hart, Sallie Jo McDonald, Eloise Jewett, Olga and Fay Lightfoot. Covers were laid for the following:

Mesdames J. P. Lightfoot, T. J. Bennett, Mary W. Doak, F. H. Farley, J. W. Lowber, James H. Hart, Frank Jewett, G. A. Bahn, J. W. Maxwell, Earle B. Mayfield, W. E. McCaleb, H. McDonald, T. J. My dear Fay,

I didn't realize when you left last night that I should not see you today. I didn't intend to say good-bye, anyway, as you had better visit us at least as frequently as you have Blackstone. ## St. Paul's Indian Mission, Marty, South Dakota

My Dear Friend:

Allow me to thank you for your kind donation towards our Indian Mission work. During these days when so many demands are made for charitable purposes, and the mails are crowded with all sorts of "begging" letters, I appreciate the kindness of our people in answering my appeal for help. I hesitated long before writing these letters, but I simply could see no other way. Of course only a few will answer, but I am all the more grateful to those who do. We shall not forget you, kind friend! I shall get my Indians, and in particular the little "bronzed angels" of the school, to pray hard for you and your intentions. These little ones carry the premium for efficacious praying. May God bless you, and show you His special protection!

Gratefully Yours in Christ,

Father Sylvester, O. S. B.

(Rev. SYLVESTER EISENMAN, O. S. B.)

MISSIONARY.

Dear Mrs. De Roulet:

I am certainly grateful to you for the boxes of magazines, and the nice clothing which you sent. These articles are a great help to us here at our poor Mission. May God reward you for the practical interest you are taking in our work among these Indians! Please thank your good daughter Antoinette and Miss Lightfoot for their contributions. I am enclosing a little Holy Card for Miss Lightfoot. I am also grateful to you for the Mass intentions. We have been praying for you and shall gladly continue to do so.

Your sincere friend in Christ,

Fr. Sylvester

Joys of the Divine Child.

*He who delights in a pure heart, shall

Other Ways of Helping

1. By prayer. Everyone can pray for the success of the missions. Conversion is the work of Divine Grace, and Divine Grace is obtained by prayer.

2. By sending the names and addresses of those you know who might help us with a donation. This item is very urgent now. Your name will be kept in strict confidence.

3. By sending cast-off clothing! There are always times in every family when certain articles of clothing must be cast aside. How much benefit these would be to the half-fed, poorly clad Indians. Perhaps you, your friends, or someone you know, could help a little in this manner. Even patches suitable for making quilts would be welcome. Of course it would be necessary for me to ask you to prepay the transportation on all the above articles mentioned, as I couldn't even do that at this time.

Assuring you of daily remembrance in my prayers.

Sincerely Yours in Christ,

Father Sylvester, O. S. B.

Miss Lightfoot

Table VI

"What'll I get my mother-in-law for Xmas?"

March the Eighteenth

My dear Miss. Lightfoot:-

You do not know what a delightful surprise the gorgeous, fragrant Carnations were to me last night. And I cannot tell you how sweet I thought you
to remember me.

In these days of flippant flappers
it is a joy to an older person to meet a young girl with something of old-time Southern graciousness, along with her up-to-date poise and cleverness, and so, my dear, you gave me sufficient pleasure the other evening by being here and by being yourself. Therefore the flowers & charming card of appreciation were but a mere added
grace, and I thank you again.

We hope to see you soon in our home and, sometime, I trust I may meet your Mother.

Cordially Yours

M. de Toulet

Miss Fay Lightfoot.

Some gifts are large and some are small some please and some do not at all.

But this I hope will bring you pleasure
and also be a daily treasure.

May you have a pleasant voyage
O'er watery sea.

May you never know a worry
And from trouble e'er be free
But should shadows hover round you
And the sunlight's brightness dim Smile and say "Oh I should worry"
Just as long as you love him.

Your fate is but the common fate of all.

Into each life some rain must fall."

is a favorite confection in the South. They are very delicious and easy to make. Take two cups of brown sugar, two cups of chopped pecans and one cup of water. Let the sugar and water syrup and come to a boil, cook until it ropes and then add nuts and stir until cool. Add a few drops of vanilla for flavoring.
