PRECINCT ONE NEWS

MESSAGE FROM COMMISSIONER
ROY CHARLES BROOKS

My esteemed friends and neighbors,

As I reflect on the swiftness of time, how another year has come and gone in the blink of an eye, I am thankful for my family, friends and my constituency. Thank you for your support and for being outstanding civic models for those who surround and look up to you.

During these times of celebration please remember to stay safe and warm. Keep your children close and enjoy the upcoming holidays. For those who are traveling, I wish you safe travels. Have a special Christmas and New Year's Holiday!

As always, please reach out to my office if you have any news topics you wish to share in future newsletter issues.

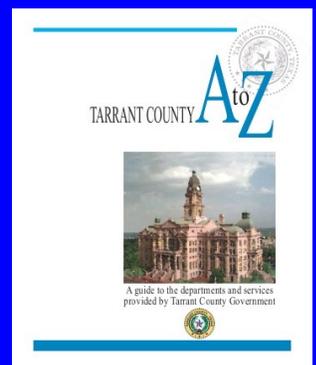

Sincerely,

Roy Charles Brooks

CIVICS FOR OUR YOUTH

Does your child need to become better informed about civics? Does he/she know who their local representatives are? A huge kudos to those parents who have ensured that their children are aware of those elected individuals who work to create and enact change not only locally but nationally. As a democracy, it is up to us, as a community, to teach our children how to become responsible civic servants. And this is where you come in.

You can encourage the importance of civic knowledge and civic engagement by simply downloading the iCivics game. This game teaches students how government works by having them experience it directly. Children can jump into the role of Commissioner, Judge, Congressperson or even President of the United States. Players dive into the job of their chosen elected official from before they are sworn into office by campaigning for the position. This game brings the subject matter to life. Not only do they play, they experience various civic roles and are given real-world issues.

iCivics is proudly used by over 150,000 teacher-users and is now the largest provider of civics curriculum in the nation. To download or to learn more about this beneficial game, please visit their website at www.icivics.org.
