Volume 5, Issue 1

COMMISSIONER'S CORNER

In our last Northeast Newsletter, we discussed the dilemma of the State of Texas redistricting situation. During the last 60 days, we've seen a number of changes and decisions made by different courts, including the Supreme Court. Unfortunately, none of these decisions has given us any clear indication of who will represent you or when we might actually hold an election. At this point, the April 3rd Primary election date will probably be moved to either April 17th or a date in late May or early June. There are also discussions about splitting the election with the Presidential primary and the U.S. Senate primary being held on April 17th and the Texas House, Senate, Congressional districts and all county offices held in late May or early June. Your guess is as good as mine on what might ultimately happen.

We will be having the Northeast Tarrant Transportation Summit on February 10, 8:30am-1:30pm at the Hurst Conference Center. The purpose of this event is to provide information concerning major highway projects in our area and discuss other transportation issues relevant to improving mobility for the citizens of Northeast Tarrant County. We will have updates on the DFW Connector and the North Tarrant Express projects.

These two projects represent over $3.5 billion in jobs, material purchases and economic development while improving the mobility of our area. At this year's Summit, our 1st Seminar will be a presentation from the three transit authorities in the DFW area: Dallas Area Rapid Transit (DART), Denton County Transportation Authority (DCTA) and the Fort Worth Transportation Authority (The T). Our 2nd Seminar will be a panel discussion about Partnerships and Processes for Successful Road Projects. Michael Morris, P.E., Director of Transportation for the North Central Texas Council of Governments, will lead this seminar along with other local leaders. Our 3rd Seminar will be a presentation on the importance of Regional Transportation by Fort Worth Mayor Betsy Price. Our keynote speaker during lunch will be Phil Wilson, Executive Director of the Texas Department of Transportation. For reservations, contact your Northeast area Chamber of Commerce (see page 3 for contact information).

Don't miss Coffee with the Commissioner this Friday morning, 7:30-9:00. This is a great time to drop by our Hurst office and visit. Hope you can attend.

Question: There were five presidents who are known by their initials: Can you name them?

Spotlight on the Mayor

Richard Ward
Mayor, City of Hurst

Hurst Mayor Richard Ward never dreamed that he would someday serve on the City Council of any city. Although he aspired to hold an elected office, he originally aspired to be on the Board of Trustees of a local school district. Mayor Ward's path took a turn towards local government when a couple of school children were hit by a rearview mirror while walking to school in his neighborhood. After the incident Ward decided to seek election to the city council and help strengthen traffic safety. He became active in local politics and was "drafted" to run for the city council in 1976. His victory over a great individual was bittersweet, but he believed that he did what he thought should be done. He won the election by only a few votes and after serving two two-year terms he decided to run for Mayor. He was defeated by a couple hundred votes and decided to leave local politics and get serious about a career. Later that year he returned to school and completed his degree in human resources. After a successful 20-year career Mayor Ward retired and re-entered politics. He subsequently served four years on the city council and then decided to run against the 24-year mayoral incumbent. The margin of victory was a whopping three votes. He uses that story to encourage people to get out and vote. "Those who say their vote is not important are the possessors of untutored brows."

Mayor Ward is a very proud graduate of Texas Christian University where his grandson will graduate this spring.

1500 clients annually with physical, mental or emotional disabilities or challenges. The therapy team is assisted by 55 specially trained therapy horses and over 250 volunteers each week who provide in excess of 18,000 hours of volunteer service each year. Rocky Top Therapy Center offers Hippotherapy, therapeutic riding, equine-assisted psychotherapy; education and counseling services; and our newest program, Horses for Heroes, for veterans and their families.

Rocky Top Therapy Center, a 501(c)(3) not-for-profit organization, established in 1990 is located on a working ranch in Keller, Texas. Rocky Top Therapy Center is a Premier Accredited Riding Center qualified through the Professional Association of Therapeutic Horsemanship International (PATH). In order to obtain this premier accreditation very stringent guidelines and standards must be met: Administration (organization, emergency and safety, documentation); Programs (equine management, equipment, volunteers, participants, instructors and health professionals); and Facility (safety and maintenance of buildings and grounds).

Today, the Center operates six days a week, with a staff consisting of 16 employees who provide services for over

Rocky Top Therapy Center was recently awarded a grant from the Texas Veterans Commission to provide financial support to veterans or their immediate family members, and covers all costs for therapeutic riding, Hippotherapy or psychotherapy services. Rocky Top seeks assistance from the public to reach out to these American heroes who have faithfully served our country and let them know about Rocky Top and how we might be able to help!

Volunteers are the heart of Rocky Top. Volunteer opportunities range from working with the clients (side-walking and leading the horses), caring for and handling the horses, maintaining facilities and grounds, office and clerical assistance, assisting with Special Olympics, Chisholm Challenge, A.P.H.A. World Shows and other competitions, and assisting with special events and fundraisers.

To accommodate Rocky Top's continuing growth a capital campaign is underway to provide a covered arena and additional office space along with meeting rooms, volunteer lounge and a parent observation room. This capital campaign has raised approximately $1 million so far and needs to raise an additional $500,000 to complete the project.

For more information on its services, volunteering, helping with our capital campaign, or to refer a veteran to the Horses for Heroes program, please

BAYLOR Regional Medical Center at Grapevine

Economic Development

Baylor Regional Medical Center at Grapevine is continuing to expand to serve the growing health care needs of the community. The facility is currently undergoing construction of a new patient tower and expansion. Scheduled to open in Summer 2013, the project will enhance cardiovascular, emergency, surgical, radiology services along with an expansion of the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit (NICU).

The hospital recently opened a dedicated Oncology Unit to provide quality care for adult cancer patients when hospitalization is required. It also opened a multidisciplinary Spine Center that offers a comprehensive range of services to help patients get back pain under control.

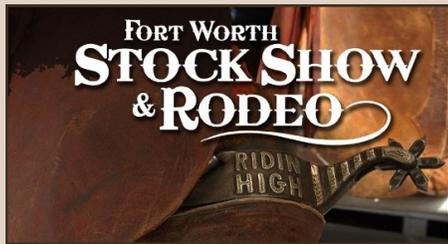

Additionally, a new Breast Center provides women in the community with full-service imaging, diagnosis and treatment in a warm, comfortable setting.

Baylor Regional Medical Center has evolved into a leading health care provider in Northeast Tarrant County and in the region. The hospital is one of the largest employers in Grapevine and remains committed to providing quality care to residents in more than 20 cities. It is estimated that over the past several years, new services, construction and renovations have resulted in the creation of more than 3,000 jobs and the addition of nearly 400 new hospital employees.

Improving the health of the surrounding communities is a priority at Baylor Regional Medical Center. Over the last two years, the hospital completed a community health assessment addressing the existing needs of the communities through comprehensive analysis and action -planning process for the cities in its primary and secondary service areas. Emerging from this work is the development the Lifestyle Improvement Challenge, an initiative focused on improving the health of communities in Northeast Tarrant and Southern Denton counties.

Baylor Regional Medical Center is committed to delivering excellence in patient care and being trusted as the best place to give and receive safe, quality, compassionate health care. For more information about services offered, please call 1.800.4BAYLOR or visit www.BaylorHealth.com/Grapevine.

The city of Fort Worth was nicknamed "Cowtown" shortly after the Civil War, as cowboys stopped for supplies in the town while herding their cattle from South Texas to the Chisholm Trail. After the arrival of the Texas and Pacific Railway in 1876, various businesspeople in the town began erecting stock yards in an effort to become a greater part of the cattle industry. In 1883, the Fort Worth Stockyards were officially incorporated.

Local ranchers wished to facilitate interest in their cattle. A conversation between rancher Charles McFarland and Charles French, marketing manager for the Fort Worth Stock Yards, resulted in the first area stock show in 1896. This event was the first of what would eventually become known as the Southwestern Exposition and Livestock Show. The stock show was held along Marine Creek, in a location with no buildings or enclosures, and only a few trees to provide shade for the animals and patrons. Early-day cattle exhibitors and organizers were all Texans: Capt. William

An Historic Moment In Time

S. Ikard of Henrietta, a breeder of Herefords; I. K. Kimberlin of Sherman; Col. J. W. Burgess of Fort Worth, a Shorthorn breeder, and Col. B. C. Rhome of Denton and Wise Counties. These men were joined enthusiastically by operators of the Fort Worth Stock Yards Company, which was organized in 1893; Armour & Company and Swift & Company, meat packers; and officials of the various railway companies serving Fort Worth.

That first show was such a success that organizers gathered again in the fall of 1896 for a two-day event in October to coincide with the National Livestock Exchange Convention meeting. A parade opened the fall show. Most exhibitors preferred the spring dates, so the Show was established as a March event, to fit in with a series of major livestock shows held around the country, establishing a regular circuit for exhibitor herds.

The following year, the event was given a name, the Texas Fat Stock Show. Tents were erected for the animals, and visitors were charged a twenty-five cent fee to view the livestock.

Local ranchers promoted the show to northern meat packers in the hopes of improving the local livestock industry. The citizens of Fort Worth raised $50,000 and formed a company in 1904 to oversee the event. Under the group's second president, Samuel Burk Burnett, the annual show was renamed the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show. During his term, which lasted from 1908-1922, the event dramatically expanded. The North Side Coliseum (now called Cowtown Coliseum) was built in 1908 to house the event. The new indoor judging arena created expanded interest in the Stock Show, and a carnival and midway were soon added. Commercial exhibit displays also increased in number, and exhibitors travelled from several surrounding states to participate. [1]

Today, the nation's oldest livestock show will see over 22,000 of head of world-class livestock roll through "cowtown" between January 13-February 4. While the show is continually looking ahead, the focus on the livestock industry and our youth is unwavering. The 2012 Show is proud to be hosting six national livestock Shows, 16 auctions and anxious to greet over 10,000 Texas junior exhibitors and wish them well in their competitions.

The Fort Worth Stock Show & Rodeo is about hard-working folks raising champion livestock and tough rodeo athletes in high gear. It's about courage, hearts and smiles and continues to be one-of-a-kind combination of culture, tradition and Western heritage. [2]

Construction activities are almost at their peak on the North Tarrant Express project. Utility coordination and relocation continues and all of the needed parcels have now been acquired. The major work areas are the I-35W/IH820 interchange, where new direct connector ramps are being constructed. Eastbound traffic between Beach St. and Denton Hwy. will soon be shifted to new pavement. Further to the east, bridge reconstruction continues throughout the mid-cities area. Drivers should also note the exit ramp to northbound SH 121 from eastbound SH 183 is now from the left lane. As always, check the project website, www.northtarrantexpress.com, for the latest construction updates.

The North Tarrant Parkway project is ongoing, with the contractor anticipated to open additional travel lanes for use by the public in the near future. By the end of January, all signals in the corridor are expected to be fully operational with new controllers set to take advantage of improved intersection geometry and additional lanes. Work on the aesthetic components of the project (irrigation, landscaping, etc.) is expected to continue through Spring.

The FM 1938 contractor continues pouring sections of pavement at the Solana and Dove Road intersections. This work also includes portions of the enhanced pavement. Over the last several weeks crews have been laying steel reinforcement bars at Dove Road and on the section of FM 1938 south of Vaquero Club Drive in preparation of paving that occurred this week. The contractor also continues to work on retaining walls and the pedestrian underpass. We anticipate traffic being switched to the new pavement on January 25th. At that time, the contractor will begin removing the old road and excavating excess soil along the west side which will become the southbound lanes.
