Message to Tarrant County Precinct 4

Dear Friends and Neighbors of Northwest Tarrant County,

As we enter the fall season, I want to begin by saying thank you.

It continues to be one of the greatest honors of my life to serve as your Tarrant County Commissioner. I am grateful for the trust you place in me and for the opportunity to work every day on behalf of the families, businesses, and communities that call Northwest Tarrant County home.

This has been a year of tremendous progress, particularly when it comes to the roads and infrastructure our growing communities need. Work is moving forward along Bonds Ranch Road, Boat Club Road, and other major corridors throughout Precinct 4. These projects represent years of planning and partnerships between Tarrant County, our cities, the state, and regional transportation leaders. Our goal remains simple: build and maintain the roads and bridges our residents need while staying ahead of the growth coming to Northwest Tarrant County.

That same focus on responsible growth guided the budget recently approved by Commissioners Court. I was proud to support a budget that once again lowers Tarrant County's property tax rate, adding to what have become the largest property tax cuts in county history, while continuing to make significant investments in law enforcement and infrastructure.

Those priorities go hand in hand. Safe neighborhoods and safe roads are two of the most important things we can provide to the families who call Tarrant County home. Even as taxes have been reduced, investments have continued in the deputies, prosecutors, training, equipment, roads, and bridges that help keep our communities safe. Those efforts are producing results, including a nearly 30 percent reduction in serious violent crime.

Growth brings challenges, but it also brings tremendous opportunity. The responsibility of county government is to plan ahead, spend taxpayer dollars wisely, and make sure the basic services people depend on keep pace with that growth.

There is still much more work ahead, and I look forward to continuing that work with you. Thank you to our residents, community partners, county employees, and especially our Precinct 4 Road and Bridge team for everything you do to make Northwest Tarrant County such a great place to live, work, and raise a family.

It is an honor to serve you.

Respectfully,

Manny R. Ramirez
Commissioner
Tarrant County, Texas

Highlights from Precinct 4

Tarrant County recently opened the John B. York Training Academy, marking a significant milestone in improving training, equipment, and working conditions for Sheriff's Office personnel. Since 2023, vacancies have decreased, applications have reached record levels, and deputy salaries have risen statewide. These developments reflect Tarrant County's ongoing commitment to strengthening public safety and investing in the future of its workforce.

During Commissioners Court on Sept. 1, two of our very own county employees were recognized for their heroic efforts during an accident that occurred near the working site of our road crew.

These employees went above and beyond their duties to save a life. An act they humbly stated anyone else would have done had they been in their shoes.

The Precinct 4 Maintenance team strives to be the best in the business, no matter if it's building a road, or saving a life, Precinct 4 paves the way!

Today, leaders from dozens of agencies were present to forge a path towards a deeper collaboration in the planning for future transportation networks in our communities. We discussed major corridors and arterial challenges, but most importantly focused on strategies to get our critical regional projects funded and delivered.

Transportation is a team sport in North Texas. The future is now and we are prepared and ready.

Today, we gathered to honor Officer Henry 'Hank' Nava Jr., commemorating his life, service, and sacrifice with the unveiling of his memorial highway sign. Officer Nava served with courage and gave his life to protect the citizens of Fort Worth. His legacy remains a powerful reminder of the commitment and bravery carried by those who wear the badge.

"Never forgotten. Always honored."

Today we had the privilege of hosting Governor Greg Abbott in Fort Worth to celebrate three years of tax cuts and historic financial achievements in Tarrant County.

Government works best when it sticks to the basics: public safety, put smart growth on end and infrastructure, public health, and keeping taxes low.

Fiscal discipline and a relentless focus on the core mission drive success in private business—and those same principles are delivering real results for the people of Tarrant County.

This morning we had the honor of joining hundreds of our neighbors to celebrate the 50th Anniversary of Tarrant County College Northwest Campus. For 5 decades, TCC NW has changed the lives of thousands of students and families in Northwest Tarrant County. Their workforce development programs have been a major factor in our regional economic success. We are proud to have stood with them for the last 5 decades, and we are committed to supporting their transformational work for the next 50 years. Congratulations TCC Northwest!

Supporting Students Through Fall Transitions

As families settle into the rhythm of a new school year, fall often brings a blend of excitement, adjustment, and the occasional growing pain. Whether your child is stepping into a new grade level, managing a fuller schedule, or simply adapting to fresh expectations, this season is a key opportunity to help them grow with confidence. Here are a few ways parents can support their students during this important transition window.

1. Building Steady Routines After Summer's Flexibility -Fall routines don't have to be rigid, but consistency helps kids feel grounded.

- Try setting achievable yet small goals or habits each morning or evening.
- Establish a dedicated homework time without any distractions.
- Add small nightly "wind down rituals," like reading a book to ease end of day stress.

2. Helping Students Adjust to New Teachers and Classroom Expectations -Every fall brings new personalities and new classrooms, it takes time for kids to adapt.

- Ask simple questions such as "What was something new you learned today?"
- Exemplify patience as everyone in the family settles into their new schedules.
- Reach out to teachers early if you sense confusion or frustration and build that communication early.

3. Keeping Extracurricular Schedules Manageable -From marching band to fall sports, Precinct 4 is rich with opportunities. But fall activities can pile up quickly.

- Keep an eye out for signs of over-scheduling, like sudden irritability or slipping school focus.
- Reassure children that it's okay to ask for help and choose what activity matters most.
- Review weekly calendars together, print out the schedule and put it on the fridge at the start of each day.

4. Supporting Emotional Well Being Through the Transition -New routines can stir up mixed emotions like excitement, worry, and everything in between.

- Use quick check ins during commutes or dinner to help kids talk through their day.
- Normalize stress as a part of learning and adjusting, it's ok to not be ok, talk about it.
- If emotional struggles persist, connect with counselors or school resources early in the semester.

Fall transitions do not need to be overwhelming. With a little structure, open communication, and thoughtful pacing, families can help students thrive during the first stretch of the school year. Small, steady support often make the biggest difference and build habits that last well beyond the school year.

Good luck and have a great year!

Patriot Day: Remembering 9/11/2001, 25th Anniversary

As a nation, and as a county, we paused to reflect and remember the 2,977 innocent lives lost on that day known as “Patriot Day,” a day we will never forget, September 11, 2001. Countless heroes whose courage continues to inspire us through stories of bravery and valor.

To commemorate Patriot Day, a special Proclamation was read during Commissioner’s Court on Sept. 1, a special tribute to the first responders who acted selflessly, some of which were actually there at Ground Zero, the rubble base of where the twin towers once stood tall.

First responders who selflessly jumped into action in the days following the attack, spent what seemed like endless efforts searching and rescuing bodies buried in the rubble. We heard eye witness testimony from Chaplain Wes McDuffie who spoke at court saying that “Ground Zero became Ground Hero” during those long, pain staking days in the heart of New York City.

Thank you to TCSO Chaplain Wes McDuffie; FWPD Ofc. Vitek’s Uncle Bill Eisengrein of Staten Island as seen on the far right of the iconic 9/11 photo; Retired FWFD members of the Texas Task Force 1 Search & Rescue Team: Richard Wier, Ken Dean, and Scott Robinson and many more who ran towards danger. Not knowing if they would come home, never hesitating to save lives, you will forever be remembered as heroes of Tarrant County, Texas!
