LARRANT COUNTY PURE HEAL

Promote good health ...

Prevent disease and injury ...

Protect the community ...

Helping people understand what they can do to keep themselves healthy is an important part of what we do.

Through our Health Planning and Policy division, we promote programs and policies to strengthen public health resources throughout our community. We work with state and local representatives to shape public policies that address health issues such as obesity, tobacco control, disaster preparedness, vaccine standards, disease control and environmental health.

Our Environmental Health division handles potential disease threats through:

- food handler training and permits,
- food service and establishment inspections,
- public swimming pool inspections,
- monitoring sewage disposal, water supply systems and storm water runoff, and
- community education and outreach programs.

We provide prevention and wellness services to individuals, families, businesses and organizations through Community Health activities, such as:

- public health centers that are conveniently located throughout Tarrant County,
- immunizations at all health centers, and special events throughout Tarrant County,
- child health screens and pregnancy testing, and
- nutrition assessment and education for women, infants and children (WIC).

We also operate a Travel Health Services clinic that offers important health information to residents traveling abroad, along with international vaccination "yellow" cards, preventive immunizations and hard-to-find vaccines. Travel Health Services also provides outreach programs to large groups planning to travel abroad. The Epidemiology and Health Information division continuously monitors the community's health status — and will rapidly respond to environmental, occupational and dangerous infectious disease occurrences. This office also:

- maintains health statistics and databases on specific diseases,
- serves as a resource for health providers and organizations, and
- mobilizes local, state and federal resources, when necessary to meet the health needs of individuals and high-risk groups.

Our North Texas Regional Laboratory

serves Tarrant and surrounding counties by:

- routinely testing water, milk and dairy products to ensure consumer safety,
- performing bacterial and chemical analysis of drinking water to detect harmful metals and organisms such as lead and coliform bacteria, and
- participating in public health preparedness activities such as food safety surveillance, influenza surveillance and West Nile virus surveillance.

Public Health Preparedness partners with hospitals, community organizations, first responders and others throughout the area to plan and implement critical measures before, during and after an emergency or public health threat.

... and manage what we find.

We maintain several specialized clinics to assist people with managing chronic conditions, as well as containing and controlling the spread of infectious diseases. Among the clinics and their specialties:

- Adult Health Services treatment for sexually transmitted diseases (STDs), and confidential education, testing and counseling for HIV and STDs.
- Breast and Cervical Cancer Control Program — provides breast exams, Pap smears, other testing, limited treatment and referral services to medically underserved and underinsured women.
- Preventive Medicine Clinic offers primary medical care and case management for people living with HIV.
- Tuberculosis (TB) Elimination provides screening and treatment for tuberculosis. This program also responds to TB occurrences, conducts ongoing educational outreach services, and operates a refugee program that provides health screening to foreign nationals settling in Tarrant County.

Through our Chronic Disease Prevention division, we provide education and screenings that help prevent and reduce the effects of asthma, diabetes, heart disease, hypertension and obesity.
